BOTH SIDES CLAIM VICTORY AS BRITISH, ITALIAN FLEETS FIGHT

150 Planes Wage Battle Over Britain

BRITISH WARD OFF RAID ON SOUTH COAST

Claim 10 German Airships Shot Down During Engagement.

SHIP CONVOY ATTACKED

Eye-Witness Watches Three Nazi Bombers Go Down In Two Minutes.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Ten German planes were reported shot down this afternoon in a great air battle over England's southern coast and the English channel involving nearly 150 planes

An air raid warden at a south-eastern English port said two formations of German raiders, each nearly 50 strong attacked a convoy of small ships and he believed one ship was sunk.

"I saw three bombers go down in less than two minutes as the British fighter pilots maneuvered to encircle the Nazis," he declared.

The warden was authority for the estimate of the forces involved and German planes destroyed

The warden said that in a colossal dive-bombing assault, the Germans enveloped the ships in a cloud of smoke.

Anti-aircraft guns (presumably on the ships or the nearby coast) helped the fighting planes break up the raid and smoke poured from several of the raiders as they retreated toward Boulogne, on the French coast.

British accounts of another phase of the battle, over land, said more than 30 German bombers, accompanied by German Messerschmitt fighting planes, kept in close formation until swift British Spitfires split them up. Then they released their bombs.

Deranged Mother Turns on Gas to Kill 6 Children

NEW YORK —(INS)— Six children perished as they slept today because their apparently deranged mother sought "the only way out" for her offspring and herself.

Near death was the mother, Mrs. Louise Nicosia, 43, former inmate of a state mental institution. The mother and children were found in their gas-filled Bronx apartment. From a range in the kitchen poured a steady flow of fumes Every jet on the range had been turned wide open.

A police emergency squad concentrated their efforts on resuscitation of the mother after all attempts to revive the children had failed. Little hope was held, however, that she would be brought back to consciousness

The children who died were Carmelia, 12; Angelia, 11, Joseph, 8, Anna, 7; Dominick, 5 and four-year-old Frances Nicosia.

LIKE A FOX

Given Freedom, it Stays Near Shelter and Food.

BEAR MOUNTAIN N Y —(AP) — A gray fox, exhibited in a pen for three years at the Trailside museum, has his freedom now but won't take it.

Set loose three weeks ago along with three red foxes, the gray won't leave and had to be pushed out.

Now he has a lair in the museum garden, from which he emerges regularly at feeding time and gets a handout.

Mansfielders Rushing to Get Copies of Needed Birth Certificates.

You'd better be able to prove where you were born if you are going to Canada and want to get back into the United States—and a lot of residents of Mansfield and Richland county know it.

Requests to the probate court for copies of birth certificates have jumped to 20 times the usual number in the last three weeks court attaches report. At the health department a doubling of applications for certificates has been noted since June 1, Dr Roy C Rehder, health commissioner, says

At probate court where records cover a period from 1908, when a uniform birth record law for the state went into effect, back to 1868 requests have mounted from the usual five a week to an average of 20 a day.

Records for the 40-year period are necessarily incomplete since there was no uniform rule about reporting births prior to enactment of the state law Judge C. J Anderson revealed today, however, that his office is able to fill about two-thirds of the applications

Where no certificate is recorded it is sometimes possible for persons to secure affidavits based on early Bible church, or lodge records, court attaches explained

At the health department records covering the period since 1908 are quite complete and officials report they are generally able to provide satisfactory information to applicants, barring changes in the spelling of names

A recently completed WPA project has also given the department a copy of the earlier records on file at probate court. A few of these certificates date back to the 1850's, Dr. Rehder said.

Because of the abnormal number of requests received not only in Richland county but throughout Ohio a committee of probate judges has been summoned to meet Friday in Columbus, the United Press stated in wire dispatches today.

At the Columbus meeting an

Police immediately posted extra guards about the fair grounds as they sought to trace the woman.

The first call came to Brooklyn headquarters at 9 a. m The woman said:

"At two o'clock this afternoon, two men are going to the World's Fair carrying suitcases. Be careful."

Mansfield Women Form Plan to Take 'War Children' Into Homes

Shoulder 3-Point Task to Provide Havens for Refugees.

MANSFIELD'S college women today were preparing to extend a helping hand to their British sisters—by providing homes here for the children of British mothers for the "duration"

The undertaking is in the hands of the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women, and is a part of the nation-wide response of the organization to a plea from the British Federation of University Women for havens from war's dangers for their children

A special committee of the Mansfield chapter has been set up to handle the task here. It will meet Friday at the home of Mrs Merritt A. Giles Crescent road, to organize and will work toward three aims

1. To find homes for British children with members of the Mansfield AAUW.

2. To find homes for them with Mansfielders who are not members of the association.

3. To ask Mansfielders who cannot care for refugee children themselves to help defray the cost of their maintenance elsewhere.

Heading the committee as chairman is Mrs L C Baumgardner Other members are Mrs. Giles Mrs. K. E Buhn, Mrs. Milo Hieber, Mrs John W Graham Mrs R. D Lindsay Mrs D. W Horton Mrs. George S Ingram, Mrs. W E Slabaugh and Mrs. Chester Cole

Although there have been reports that difficulty has been experienced in obtaining entry into this country for British children under the immigration quota set up by the government, AAUW officials here have been advised that if arrangements are made quickly, children can be brought in well within the quota for Britain

Countess Clarisse Szechenyi, the former Gladys Vanderbilt, background, is shown with this group of refugee children who arrived in New York on the S. S. Samaria. Held by their nurses are, left, the Hon Robin Finch-Hatton, 8 months old, and three-and-a-half-year-old Viscount Maidston, both of them grandchildren of Countess Szechenyi, and, right, Tania and Gabrielle Tiarks, children of Lady Tiarks.

Forms have been made out for use of persons agreeing to provide homes for refugees according to Mrs Baumgardner, and every effort will be made to see that each assignment of a refugee child will be suitable. Applicants for refugees will be allowed to designate whether they wish a boy or girl the age preferred (children between 2 and 18 will be brought here), and will also be permitted to specify their own church affiliations, so that can be considered.

A considerable number of refugee children have already arrived in this country and Canada from Great Britain, but

COUNCIL WARNS HOME OWNERS

Decides to Enforce Ordinance To Keep Roof Waters From Sanitary Sewer Lines.

Unable to agree on a way to raise money for the expansion of Mansfield's sewer system, city council decided last night at a caucus to enforce the ordinance against turning roof water into the sanitary sewers as the first step in solving the problem of flooded basements.

Passed in April, 1916, the ordinance provided for a $50 fine for violators who are convicted in court It has never been enforced, Miller proposed at a meeting last week that something be done about it.

It was C. N. Shultz, Second ward councilman, who brought up the question again last night, urging that the city "be nice about its requests to violators at first and then get rough if necessary."

Other councilmen agreed with him, and Service-Safety Director C M Crafton said he would get letters out to violators within a few days, requesting them to divert their roof water elsewhere than in the sanitary sewers

MURRAY LOSES

Political Come-Back of Alfalfa Bill Crushed.

OKLAHOMA CITY —(INS)— Oklahoma voters today apparently had crushed the political comeback drive of former Gov. William H (Alfalfa Bill) Murray who campaigned for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large in opposition to the New Deal.

Returns from 2,342 of the state's 3,615 precincts gave the incumbent, Rep Will Rogers, 96,511 votes, Murray 73,501.

TURNS ON HEAT

July Sends Mercury to 85, Indicates Higher Reading.

July began to turn on the heat in earnest today, with the temperature at 85 this noon and indicating that it would jump several degrees by mid-afternoon.

Light showers yesterday afternoon kept the mercury down to 85 in spite of a burning sun throughout most of the day.

With a low of 58 during the night the average for the 24-hour period was 71.5, or one degree below normal.

Generally fair tonight and Thursday "except for occasional thunder showers" is forecast with little change in temperature.

Elevator Included In County Courthouse Alteration Plan

Richland county's pompous mid-Victorian courthouse will be revamped, both inside and outside, according to plans announced today by county commissioners. Changes will include installation of a four-story elevator and creating about 3,500 square feet of additional office space.

Charles Conklin, architectural engineer, estimated cost of the elevator at $15,000, but said other changes to the building will be "comparatively small" in cost

This will be the first time in seven years that anything has been done to repair or maintain the building, county commissioners said It has been more than a half century since any material changes have been made

The elevator will be installed in the southeast section of the building, starting on the basement, or ground floor, in what is now the women's rest room, and will go up through the probate court quarters on the second floor and the common pleas court on the third floor. It will continue to the fourth floor, which has been "lost space" since the building was erected

TOPEKA Kas (AP) Harry H Woodring in his first public address since leaving President Roosevelt's cabinet June 20 said the United States had all it could do to mind its own business and prepare "like hell to insulate this hemisphere from war

The former secretary of war did not mention his letter of resignation to the president, a letter the White House said was "too personal" to make public.

He spoke last night at a chamber of Commerce dinner welcoming him back to his native state

Roosevelt Promises 'No War Of Aggression' or Part In 'European Wars.'

POINTS TO SACRIFICE

Declares 'Partial Defense Is Inadequate Defense' Tells Objectives.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt asked congress to authorize an additional $4,848,171,957 for defense today in a special message asserting that "we will not use our arms in a war of aggression, we will not send our men to take part in European wars"

Mr. Roosevelt's request brought to approximately $10,000,000,000 the funds and contract authorizations asked this session for land, sea and air armaments. Previously the president had asked and the congress voted about $5,000,000,000 in the two categories.

Specifically, Mr. Roosevelt today requested $1,161,441,957 in a cash appropriation and $2,686,730,000 of contract authorizations

The latter would permit congress to appropriate later a like amount

"The principal lesson of the war up to the present time is that partial defense is inadequate defense," Mr. Roosevelt declared

"So great a sum means sacrifice So large a program means hard work—the participation of the whole country in the total defense of the country This nation through sacrifice and work and unity proposes to remain free."

The president outlined the government's "immediate objectives as follows

"1. To carry forward the naval expansion program designed to build up the navy to meet any possible combination of hostile naval forces.

"2 To complete the total equipment for a land force of approximately 1,200,000 men though of course this total of men would not be in the army in time of peace

"3 To procure reserve stocks

Court Sets Aside Special Assessment Review.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The Ohio supreme court today held unconstitutional a law enacted by the present legislature creating county boards of special assessment review with authority to reduce special assessments which may be considered excessive.

The decision was given in an action brought by Frank Szalay of Brooklyn village, Cuyahoga county, to compel County Auditor John A. Zangerle to set aside funds for operation of the board which had been created by the county commissioners. It declared the law retroactive.

Auditor Zangerle refused to provide the money, contending the law was invalid The court was unanimous in upholding Zangerle's contention

Naval Battle Off Coast of Italy Staged

Rome Admits Loss of One Destroyer and Submarine, Says British Warship Sunk, Which London Denies; France Seeks 'Scapegoat.'

(By Associated Press)

Italy sharply disputed Britannia's rule over the seas today as both sides claimed victory in a violent, zig-zag naval battle in the Ionian sea—just below the instep of the Italian "boot."

While the British version said the Italian warships fled "almost immediately" behind a smoke-screen, after an Italian battleship had suffered a long-range hit, an Italian communique asserted the British fleet was driven off.

The British admiralty, taking note of "mendacious reports often circulated by the enemy," quickly retorted that the clash had "developed into a chase of the Italian ships" and that there were no British casualties.

"It must be assumed that the Italian naval forces, at least one heavy unit of which suffered damage, have gained the shelter of their home defenses," the admiralty added.

The Italian communique, which admitted casualties of 29 killed and 69 wounded, insisted the Italian naval forces sought out the British men o'war "to head off" an apparent British plan to attack Italian coastal positions and succeeded in contacting the enemy.

The Italians said one British warship—"probably a battleship" —was sunk while "only one of our ships was hit." They admitted, however, the sinking of the Italian destroyer "Zeffiro" and loss of one submarine.

Then, the communique declared, after brief intensive firing, "the enemy gave up its objective and moved off toward the southeast"

Italy's claim of seeking the initiative in the sea battle differed markedly from the British account, which reported its royal navy "made contact" with the Italian ships and pursued them in flight.

By contrast, the Italian communique said:

Our aviation, notwithstanding extremely strong anti-aircraft fire, followed the enemy until darkness, striking some of its ships with bombs of heavy caliber."

Descriptions of the battle under victory-flaring headlines in the London press said the British Mediterranean fleet, under its Commander-in-Chief Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, engaged an Italian force of two battleships, a number of 8-inch and 6-inch gun carriers and numerous destroyers.

France's new totalitarian regime, meanwhile, sought a "scapegoat" for the French defeat, with the senate's national defense and foreign affairs committee voting unanimously to investigate "the responsibilities for origins and conduct of the war"

APPLECART: Fuehrer Tells Hungary, 'Don't Upset It'

(By Associated Press)

MUNICH—Hungary's leaders were told definitely by Adolf Hitler and the foreign ministers of Germany and Italy today that Hungary must not upset the Balkan applecart at this time by trying "to secure her rights" from Rumania, informed German sources said.

Premier Count Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky, who came to discuss Hungary's demands that Rumania restore at least part of war-lost Transylvania to her, conferred first with Foreign Ministers Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano and then were received by Hitler

While both Hitler and Premier Mussolini of Italy are agreed that their program for scrapping the Versailles and other World war treaties means also revision in the Near East, the informants said Hitler holds this is not the time for revisionists to press their claims too aggressively.

However, a brief communique issued by DNB, the official German news agency, said the German-Italian-Hungarian discussions

DEFENSE: President Seeks Five Billion for Army, Navy

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asks congress today for $5,000,000,000 more for the army and navy.

These additional billions will be used to mechanize land forces, start constructing more warships and increase the military air forces to 25,000 planes

The message was awaited as the senate prepared to approve Mr Roosevelt's nomination of Republican Col Frank Knox to be secretary of the navy Democratic leaders believed Knox would receive a larger "vote of confidence" than the 56 to 28 one given Republican Henry L. Stimson the president's choice for secretary of war yesterday

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference yesterday that the message on the new defense bill was ready. It was understood to ask $1,000,000,000 for the army and $1,000,000,000 for the navy.

Some of the navy funds it was understood will be used to start work on fighting ships contemplated under the house-approved 70 per cent naval expansion bill which Senate Democratic Leader Alben W Barkley hopes will be sent to the White House before congress recesses tomorrow for the Democratic convention.

Senate approval of Stimson's nomination came late yesterday after two days of debate. Republican and Democratic isolationists had charged that he was a "war monger."

Sen Rush D. Holt (D, W. Va) of the isolationist bloc, said he was "very happy" over the result, because "when 28 senators vote against a cabinet appointee, it's a very significant sign."

Democratic leaders expect a greater majority for Knox, predicting that Sens David L Walsh (D, Mass) and John A. Danaher (R., Conn.), who voted against Stimson probably would switch.

CARROTS AS SUMMER AND WINTER CROPS

In a well-planned vegetable garden successive sowings of carrot seeds should be made with the idea of having carrots all summer and winter. July is the most favorable time for planting the crop for winter storage. It is important that the soil where carrots are to be planted should have deep, thorough and smooth preparation

In heavy soils only the short stump rooted variety of carrot should be grown. This type is shown in Figure 1 of the accompanying Garden-Graph. Figure 2 shows the long, slender type of carrot which is best grown in sandy soils

Carrots should be stored before hard frosts occur since the roots are liable to be injured by cold.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Listen to our old college pal sling 'em!"

"Do you mean to tell me?" he added, "that you're going to keep muscling in where you're not wanted? We've brought the box, you've brought the two love birds. What are you beefing about now?"

"Pardon my seeming impertinence," Harry said with elaborate mocking courtesy, "but it is my impression that you people are doing the 'beefing,' if any. Now, if I may make a compromise suggestion, suppose two of your men—and the box—come over into this car, and our two hostages transfer themselves to yours. Then if you'll lead the way out, we will follow you to the junction of roads I mentioned before."

With a torrent of profanity, the leader of Leslie's men consigned Mr. Underwood to the lowest of the nethermost regions. Without another look or answering word, Harry started his car, the leader of my father's men followed suit, and both cars were moving before Leslie's man yelled: "Hey! You can't do that!"

Both cars stopped, but with their motors running, and Mr. Underwood slowed his voice to a most irritating drawl.

"Can't we? Just watch us!"

Then, in an instant he spoke with commanding emphasis.

"I'm not waiting another second. If you want these 'love birds,' as you call 'em, you send those two men with the box over here. You can send two of your men with 'em if you don't trust us, and we'll send two of ours with the young folks, as we sure don't trust you. Then when the exchange is completed, your men and mine can return to their respective cars, and we'll all be off. Another thing! The Chief says that if one hair of either of these young folks is parted wrong while they're away, we're going to tear all of you apart with our bare hands. Get me?"

I expected to see Jack Leslie in his hiding place so near us stiffen with rage at this speech, perhaps go charging out into the fray. But to my astonishment, he seemed to have relaxed a bit, and I wondered if perhaps he had entertained a vague, troubling doubt of the identity of Mary and Noel, which Harry's words had banished.

"Have it your own way," he said sullenly. "Here, Tim and Boots, you go along with Mac and Bill and the box. Don't come back here till these love birds are in this car, and their escorts"—he almost spat out the word—"ready to go back. I'll give you the signal when to mosey back over here."

The four men climbed down obediently, and as they did so, Harry Underwood gave the signal to my father's men in the car next his. Two of them immediately got out of their car and came over to Dicky's in which sat Watson and Blake, the impersonators of Mary and Noel. Then the pseudo Noel and Mary got out, and with a guard on either side began to walk toward the other car, passing Leslie's men with the box on the way.

Lillian and I, watching Jack Leslie, saw him leaning forward, watching his prey—as he thought—intently. I fairly held my breath, for I knew Leslie, who himself had been a public performer, was versed in make-up and all sorts of disguises.

I do not know what aroused his suspicion, but we saw him tense and knew that in another instant he would dash out into the road with a shouted warning.

Play Program Popular In Lincoln

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS Ph. D.

WHILE MY wife and I were attending the annual convention of the National Congress of Parents at Omaha we learned of the fine backyard playground program which has been sponsored the past eight years in Lincoln, Nebraska, by the Lincoln Council of Parent-Teacher Associations. Cooperating in this enterprise is the Lincoln Recreation Board. We obtained the following facts of Mrs. Fred E. Easterday, recreation chairman, Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers.

Great interest in making the home the center of family recreation and safety and adequate space and equipment for home play are among the objectives sought in this campaign. Its slogan is, "The Home, the Center of Family Fun."

Try For Awards.

Awards are made for originality, the use of waste materials and utilization of limited spaces. Design and appearance of home-made equipment are encouraged while suitability of the playground for use by the entire family, the variety of activities, and the time spent there are important factors in rating a playground for an award.

A feature of this campaign is the Handy Club to which all the boys and girls with playgrounds registered in this campaign are eligible. Membership is achieved when an acceptable piece of handcraft made from waste materials is completed. The purpose of this club is to encourage the use of waste materials in making "something from nothing" and at the same time stimulate interest in constructive vacation activities that will continue over a period of time. Badges made from waste bits of wood are given those who achieve membership in this club

The Lincoln Recreation Board, for the past two years, has sent out releases to the registrants in this campaign giving suggestions for games, handcraft, and equipment suitable for home recreation. A booklet on outdoor fireplaces was also made available last year.

Chance For All.

Playground activities and highlights in Lincoln vary from year to year. One year tree-houses predominated. Another year play houses and work shops were the popular trend. Last year out-door fireplaces and croquet courts were characteristic of a large number of the backyard arrangements. Some of the backyards became neighborhood play areas. However, this campaign is not planned to compete with the city's summer supervised playgrounds, but rather to supplement them with such activities as may bear a very definite relationship to the home and family life.

But alas! There are thousands and thousands of children in homes without back yards. As members of our community, large or small, we should see to it that they have access to public playgrounds and that these play grounds are adequately equipped and supervised this summer. This is no time to cut on playgrounds. Let's give the kids a chance.

PULL DUMMY'S TEETH

WHEN YOU see a set-up suit in the dummy, with no entries for it except trumps, there may be only one possible way to disarm it. That is by pulling its teeth through making the dummy ruff. Thereby you shorten his trump holding so that declarer may not be able to get the lead over there except while you or your partner may not yet be out of trumps. If that situation develops, you may be able to ruin that set-up suit just in the nick of time.

That contract worked successfully at one table of a tournament. East overtook the club Q lead and switched to a spade to prevent ruffs. South won, led the heart Q to the A, and West returned the club 10 to the A. Learning from declarer's heart lead what South was up to, East tried to foil it by leading the diamond K, but it was too late. Declarer won with the A, scored with the spade K and Q, then ran four hearts for diamond discards, so made his contract.

At another table the same contract was set. East took the first two club tricks, then led his diamond K—before declarer had a chance to get a heart lead. The diamond A won, the heart Q went to West's A and the latter fired a second round diamond, which dummy had to ruff. Now declarer could win only the second round of trumps in the dummy. When he led hearts East had a trump left. Declarer tossed two diamonds on hearts, but East ruffed the next, compelling an over-ruff. So declarer lost a diamond at the end.

Why didn't South, after the dummy's diamond ruff, come to his hand with a club ruff, trump a third-round diamond in dummy, discard the last two diamonds on hearts and thus make his contract anyway? He said he didn't think of it. Did you, while reading the paragraph above?

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 11.

A very lively day is forecast from the dominant lunar aspects, although things may not move spectacularly but may develop with steady progress into satisfactory achievements. The forces and faculties are fairly well stimulated, with business and constructive work marching on to the cherished ends. Cooperation with fraternities, educational, social or humane groups are particularly favored.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of definite progress in the direction of moderate objectives, under the spur of alert, decisive and potential forces and faculties. Group work is favored.

A child born this day should be enterprising and ambitious, with keen and highly-stimulated intellect, possibly inciting to sharp and offensive verbal expression, to its detriment, although it may be sensitive and sympathetic. The legal profession demands such specific gifts.

CHAPTER XXIII

"Is something?" Walpi asked. He was holding a pipe wrench, and he was in work clothes.

"Ah—is Rosemary available, Walpi? May I see her?"

"Is no water. Pump she go die you come see new papoose quick Walpi get um."

He disappeared instantly, and by the time Monty could fathom his talk, Walpi was coming back from the rear of the store carrying a bundle.

"Is name Walpi Two, me Walpi One," Walpi declared. "Miss Rosemary give Pola say is good girl get plenty red water help you like?"

"Quite so! Quite so, Walpi!" Monty labored at admiring the dark mire in the blankets. It was a husky baby, wriggly and clean, and powdered with paleface powder which indicated Rosemary's hand again. And then Monty was dumfounded to see Pola herself in the rear of the store, industriously mopping the floor by hand.

"I say—oh I say, Walpi! Is not Pola, ah—wasn't it she who—who is mother of the baby here? Isn't it dangerous—?"

Dr. Archibald Montgomery, of New York and Yale, needn't have worried. In truth, he never did quite make Walpi understand his concern for the squaw. It was a long time before he remembered that primitive races take childbirths in routine stride.

"Is Rosemary in her room?" he asked eventually.

"Is no water pump is die," Walpi declared anew. "I try fix um no water come."

"Can't repair it, eh? Then I shall see to it myself, Walpi, for her. Give me the wrench, please."

"Is joke?"

"I beg pardon?"

"You no fix, you make talk big town Walpi wait Mr. King."

Monty stared directly at the older, darker man.

"Do I understand you to say, Walpi—?"

"Mr. King better he fix you no build good fire saddle horse without blanket is dude from big city, joke. Mr. King say."

Monty swallowed. Silently he interpreted Walpi's jargon. It wasn't exactly clear, nevertheless he got the essential point. Walpi plainly did not trust him. He was saying that he, Monty was incapable, and that it would be best to wait for Rosemary's other friend, Bob King. Obviously Walpi held Bob's practical ability in considerable respect. For the first time in a long while, Dr. Archibald Montgomery swelled in genuine anger. And, it must be admitted, the anger was directed in part at himself. Even a simple-minded Indian could not trust him!

True, he felt momentary resentment at Bob King. King evidently had told of Monty's discomfiture, doubtless calling him a dude and laughing at him before Walpi and others. Conceivably it was done in good spirit, but he resented it even so. Monty indignantly reached for the wrench and took it from the Indian's hand.

"Your attitude is absurd, Walpi!" he declared. "I am no—ah infant! Where is the pump?"

"Pump stay on water send much water here is no water here now you come see Mr. King maybe come soon." He led the way to the hydrants in the rear, and by dint of careful inspection Monty learned that the pump really was somewhere else, probably at the lakeshore where it belonged.

"Of course you could do nothing at this end," Monty chided. "If there is on obvious stoppage, then the difficulty is elsewhere. Please tell Rosemary that I have taken charge of the matter for her."

"You want charge something when you pay?" Walpi missed the point, and in turn so did Monty. But Monty just stared in momentary confusion, and started with his wrench toward the forest trail.

In a moment, though, he turned back and got more tools from his car. He was thinking carefully this morning. This matter had become a major project with him; he would repair this pump alone if humanly possible. At least he would be responsible for it. Anger had cast a peculiar bullheadedness in him, he realized, and somehow he rather felt proud of it.

The half-mile trail to the lake was along a low, rounded ridge most of the way. Once a fifty foot swath had been cut in the trees and underbrush, and it was fanned almost constantly by a cross breeze that came from over the mountain ranges to Monty's right. The old road was almost never used except as a foot path because there was no occasion to use it, although a mule wagon or even a motor truck could have ridden over or through the young trees and bushes that now grew there.

The lake was a turquoise in an emerald setting, its green toned down by reflection of the brilliant Arizona sky. Great trees surrounded it, coming to the very edge of the water as if to bathe their feet there. Monty glimpsed it first from a slight elevation over which he climbed.

"Beautiful! . . . Beautiful!" he murmured, in rapt appreciation. "And some of us easterners have been disdainful of the West!"

He walked on carrying the heavy tools, but pausing to enjoy the scenery too. His esthetic soul responded to the virgin beauty on every side. To his right trees windowed a distant panaroma. And close-ups were pictures made alive by the quaking and whispering of aspen leaves.

He had merely to follow the trail to get to the pump. A dry limb had blown against the fly wheel and jammed it so that it stopped. Then when the electric motor had stalled, a fuse had gone out. Monty applied common reasoning, as any who has electricity in his household could do, and traced down the simple trouble. There were even extra fuses in the little housing or box that covered the motor. Somewhat gingerly he inserted one of them to replace the blown one, threw the switch on again, and saw the pump resume its duties in good form. When he heard the water flowing through the pipe again he felt a definite glow of pride.

All at once then it occurred to Dr. Montgomery that he was being rather childish. If he had neglected the little bits of practical knowledge that made everyday living convenient and comfortable, he would set in now to correct that lack. Doubtless this was what had been so noticeable to Bob King, and doubtless it had been noticeable to Rosemary too, even though Rosemary had been too polite to mention it. He recalled the moments when Rosemary had smoothed over the conversational ruffles between him and Bob King. For that he was grateful. Rosemary was the most considerate girl he had ever known. Nothing about her of the flip, too-pert collegian which he often encountered, nor of the hardness which so often mars the beauty of office secretaries and other girls in business life, he reflected. Obviously she was a young woman with remarkable moral stamina, pretty without conceit.

He had been there only a minute or two, and as he stood now staring at the running pump and thinking of her, he heard steps to one side and was astonished to see Rosemary herself walk around a clump of green underbrush.

"I heard you tinkering, Monty," she said, slowly, wanly, "and I see you have it running again. I was sitting over there a little ways. Thank you so much for repairing it."

In his surprise he did not answer at once. Anyway he was instantly concerned by the strained, flushed look on her face.

"Rosemary!" he exclaimed, gently. "You have been crying!"

She nodded, avoiding his eyes.

"Yes, Monty, I'm afraid I have."

Detroit Fugitive Captured After Exciting Flight

STOLEN AUTO DRIVEN INTO POLICE TRAP

Hitch-Hiker Dies In Crash Of Automobile Near Cleveland.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — The exciting flight from Detroit of a 19-year-old colored fugitive—a flight marked by an automobile crash and the death of a chance acquaintance—ended today in a cell at Cleveland Central police station.

The fugitive, Robert Lipscomb, made a daring escape from Detroit police headquarters at 11 a.m. yesterday while he was being taken to a cell after being sentenced to serve 7½ to 15 years in the Michigan state penitentiary for auto theft.

Lipscomb was captured in Cleveland at 12:30 a. m. today by Patrolmen James Basta and Clarence Triska when he drove into a police trap. He was driving a stolen coupe.

Less than an hour earlier a 1940 sedan Lipscomb stole in Detroit went out of control in suburban Olmsted Falls, killing a hitch-hiker the fugitive said he had picked up in Elyria.

The hitch-hiker was identified through U S army discharge papers as Thomas Alex, 21, whose home is believed to be in Toledo. The papers show he was discharged April 27 at Fort Crooks, Nebraska

Lipscomb, who has served a term in the Iona, Mich., reformatory for auto stealing, was in a washroom on the third-floor of the Detroit police station when he slugged his police guard, grabbed the officer's gun and escaped.

Running to a parking lot he held up the attendant, took 50 cents and a sedan. He drove to a friend's home and borrowed $18.

Lipscomb then headed the stolen sedan towards Berea, O., where he had a relative. He picked up the hitch-hiker in Elyria, before the sedan left the road at Olmsted Falls.

Glenn Hankinson, jr., 17, was among the first motorists to reach the accident scene. When he and two passengers got out of his coupe, Lipscomb hopped in their car and sped away to Cleveland He was arrested 30 minutes later.

Mansfield police were reflecting that there must have been some undercover work in an "obey the law" or "be a good citizen" campaign as they turned in their reports last night. A check of the police blotter showonly nine reports last night. A check of the police blotter showed only nine reports, all of them minor complaints, during yesterday's three shifts. The reports indicated the quietest day for the department in several months. And the law observance spree was reflected in municipal court where only one case, an intoxication charge, was heard.

When the parents of two Mansfield youngsters discovered them missing from their beds at about 2 a. m today, they were alarmed at first, but before summoning police, they played a "hunch" that struck both mother and father simultaneously. They dressed and drove down to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and there they found the youngsters sitting on the railroad tracks "waiting for the circus to come in." The boys were hustled back home, went to bed and four hours later they were allowed to go back to the railroad siding to watch the circus wagons being unloaded.

DIES OF RABIES

Dog's Death Leads to Warning by Health Commissioner.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, today was investigating the source of infection of a dog which died recently at the Vane Close kennels, 185 Lawnview avenue. A state health department laboratory report disclosed that the dog, whose head was submitted for examination, had died of rabies.

Urging treatment for all persons exposed to the dog, Rehder requested that all Mansfielders watch their dogs closely for changes in disposition—first symptom of the disease—and that all dogs be kept confined to their premises. The rabid dog had been closely confined to the kennels, Rehder said.

"This is the first case of rabies reported in the city in seven years," Rehder reported. He urged that all persons notify the health department of dog bites to prevent any spread of the infection.

DECLARES U. S. KILLED PEACE

Chicago Professor Blames Economic Policies of This Nation.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — The United States itself "slaughtered" the world peace it made in 1920, Dr. Quincy Wright, professor of international law at University of Chicago, said today.

"The slaughter was effected not only by the senate's refusal to give its consent to the ratification of the 1920 treaties and to join the League of Nations, but also by the destructive economic policy in contradiction to the Wilsonian ideas," Dr. Wright asserted in an address at the summer institute of current affairs of Western Reserve university.

"The economic policy of higher and higher trade barriers, more and more insistence on the collection of debts, more extensive loans to Germany to permit her to pay the reparations to the Allies who then returned the sum to the United States for inter-Allied debt payments, created an unsound economic structure which precipitated the crisis of 1929."

He found nothing "inherently impossible" in re-establishing ideals of liberty, democracy and free enterprise and world federalism after the World war if the nations, "particularly this nation, had been induced to accept them all."

"But there was an interdependence of these various ideals, and it was not and is not likely that democracy and liberty will survive unless there is also a willingness to establish a genuine world federalism capable of preventing construction of impassable economic barriers," Dr. Wright said.

Dr. Wright said the United States "must no longer allow" democracies to be separated so they can be destroyed one at a time, and must be prepared to make concession of sovereignty "essential" for an effective world order.

$234 KEEPS RED CROSS FROM REACHING REFUGEE FUND GOAL

With only $234 yet to go the Red Cross war relief fund has struck a snag today, according to officials.

A week ago drive leaders asked for $500 to finish the $12,000 quota The response brought the total up to $11,766.

At a meeting of the executive board yesterday afternoon at Red Cross headquarters it was decided that because the fund is so near the quota no attempt would be made to make a house to house canvass. Members of the board believe that the $234 will be made up in the volunteer contributions.

"So far we have not made a house-to-house canvass nor asked for benefits as has been done in many other cities," John H. Finefrock, chairman of the board said today. "If England is subjected to an enemy attack there is certain to be widespread suffering and need for greater mercy funds. When that call comes the Richland county chapter probably will ask for benefits and help in other forms."

Finefrock said that a number of Mansfield groups had already offered to stage benefits, but that these would be held in reserve until further funds are asked for by the American Red Cross.

The board decided yesterday that in the event benefits are given, the Richland county chapter will adhere to the national policy which is that the entire profits must be turned over to the Red Cross. "It would not be advisable," Finefrock said, "for the Red Cross to take part in any venture where the public is asked to support a Red Cross benefit and then divert a part of the profits to any other organization."

Several offers for such benefits have been received, he said, but only those given entirely for humanitarian purposes will be considered.

ASHLAND—Indicted today by the Ashland county grand jury on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property, Benjamin Polsky, Loudonville junk dealer, was fined $1,000 and costs in common pleas court soon afterward this morning.

Polsky was charged with receiving $649 worth of block tin metal stolen early this year from the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company at Mansfield. He was fined by Judge H. E. Culbertson who suspended $400 of the fine, but ordered Polsky to pay the remaining $600 to the steel company for the stolen property. Polsky pleaded guilty.

Paul Hall, 27, of Hayesville, N. C., indicted on three counts, two for automobile theft and one on check forgery, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve from one to 20 years on each count in the Ohio penitentiary.

FIRST BALLOT STRENGTH FOR FDR DECISIVE

Montanan Sees Embarrassment For Anyone Opposing President.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) removed himself today from the list of presidential aspirants who expect their names to go before the Democratic national convention regardless of President Roosevelt's plans.

Asserting that he would not be a party to a "Stop-Roosevelt" movement, Wheeler told reporters that continued silence by the president would have the effect of quashing all other candidates.

"Of course, Mr. Roosevelt can have the nomination—he has the votes to get it on the first ballot if he wants it, and there is no question about that," Wheeler declared.

"If he doesn't make any announcement, it will be rather embarrassing to everybody else as to whether or not to have his name presented

Virtually every politician here believes that the president will accept a "draft" nomination, but Mr. Roosevelt himself again parried questions on the subject at his press conference yesterday.

He would not say when he would disclose his intentions Asked whether he might go to Chicago during the convention next week, he recalled a previous announcement that he would cruise on the Potomac next week-end and had no plans thereafter.

Wheeler's position appeared to leave Vice President Garner as the only other aspirant whose friends still insisted that his name would be placed in nomination. One Garner supporter said, however, it was entirely possible that once President Roosevelt's name had been put officially before it, the convention might storm down any other nominating attempts.

Rep. Joseph Martin (R-Mass.), new national Republican chairman predicted in a press conference yesterday that President Roosevelt would be Willkie's opponent. He said the president was "so available I hadn't thought of anyone else as a candidate."

Martin declared that the Republicans not only would win the presidency, but would obtain a majority of house seats.

Three patrolmen and two officers conducted the drive which began at 4 p. m. Cars were stopped for checks on lights, brakes, horns, windshield wipers, operators' license and car registrations.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Ideals — in the movies — are born in peculiar ways.

I give you Towne and Baker, the producing pair who even now are preparing a third in their series of good, stock, standard sweet, wholesome (and the rest of the adjectival catalogue, if you wish) yarns for filming

Messrs. Towne and Baker, having made movies of "Swiss Family Robinson" and "Tom Brown's School Days" are going to give Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Men" a new whirl at the cameras. This is funny only because, of all the writing gentry in town, these two in their pre-producing days were most likely to get pointed notes from Joe Breen, the self-censor man, to the effect that "you CAN'T do that!"

Baker (who gets a chance to talk at length only when the louder-lunged Towne is out of town) freely expresses their delight in what must be Mr. Breen's suspicious astonishment that so far in Towne-Baker's new scripts, there has been nothing in the least shady.

Messrs. Towne and Baker, by virtue of their screen subjects, are championing the cause of screen purity and this is how it all came about

"As writers," Baker relates "we never got to see our stories on the screen as we'd written them. We decided to produce our own. We hit on the name 'The Play's the Thing Productions.' This was an expedient alibi for not being able to afford Gables and Lombards as stars. We would forget the stars, and stress the play. There we hit another snag. The new plays on Broadway cost too much, and we couldn't modestly turn to plays by Towne and Baker. We still hadn't decided what to do, and Gene was in New York to tell the RKO convention about the pictures we would make. He went around to the public library for ideas. They told him the most widely read book of all time was the Bible, but DeMille had borrowed that already. Then they gav him other long-time best-sellers—the books we've filmed and are filming. So Gene took a look inside 'Swiss Family' and saw a picture of the boat, and he said that's a movie and it's good enough for me. Besides, the movie rights were free. So he went to the convention and announced the pictures, and then he read the books and he turned white."

That's why the boys have had to revamp the "classics" which had stories of a sort but not exactly the sort that make a movie move. They are doing many things to "Little Men"—Miss Alcott herself in the book admitted she had no plot—and not the least of these alterations is to good old Buttercup, the cow, who will play in support of Kay Francis, Jimmy Lydon, Jack Oakie and the rest.

Buttercup offered opportunity for a stroke of genius in the exploitation line. For at the New York World's fair was there not Elsie, the beautiful Jersey who symbolizes a nationally advertised brand of milk?

Elsie, whose pretty face is reminiscent of some current feminine star I can't quite place, is making her film debut for art's sake only—

"If, that is," as wily Graham Baker hastens to add, "we can't work out a deal for the milk company to pay US!"

Pandas Whip Braves

Settlemire, Panda Hurler, Homers With 2 on as Braves Lose 10-8.

By GEORGE SATTLER

MERLE SETTLEMIRE, Panda pitcher-manager, who will pilot the "L. M. T." club in the All-Star clash tonight at Lima, tuned up a day too early, as far as the Mansfield Braves were concerned last night.

Breaking into a six-run lead in the second inning the Mansfield outfit looked like a sure bet until Settlemire relieved Snoddy on the mound. Then things began to happen and the Braves wound up on the wrong end of a 10-8 tally.

Not satisfied with merely holding the Braves to five hits in the eight frames he took over, the Panda manager touched off the final blow by poling out a long home run with two men on to score the winning runs.

Drewik started the game for the Mansfielders but was relieved by Alex Radoumis in the sixth when Lima forged ahead with a three-run rally. Settlemire struck out six Braves, while Tony Drewik fanned five of the Pandas. Radoumis struck out one and Snoddy whiffed one.

Mansfield's only tallies after the six-run total in the second frame came in the seventh when they attempted a rally. But the attack fell short, the Braves getting only two runs.

Lima scored four in the third, two in the fifth, three in the sixth, and one in the eighth for their 10 runs.

Gene Woodling, ace Brave outfielder, stole the hitting honors for the Mansfielders by smashing out a homer. Herb Woodten and Missler shared the limelight with a two-base hit apiece.

Mansfield found Settlemire and Snoddy for only seven hits, with no Brave getting more than one hit during the contest. The Pandas found the two Mansfield pitchers for an 11-hit total.

Results of the other league games last night were: Findlay 5, Tiffin 3, and Fremont 4, Fostoria 3.

Manager Puts West In Game At Last Moment

Boston Outfielder's Homer With Two on Leads Way to American All-Stars Downfall.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—At noon it was a hunch—nothing more—that caused Manager Bill McKechnie to insert Max West of Boston in the starting lineup of the National circuit in the annual major league all-star baseball game.

Thirteen minutes after the contest was under way, it was a brilliant piece of strategy as West deposited a three-run homer in the right field bleachers and started his mates toward a 4 to 0 triumph over the American league.

McKechnie's belief that Mel Ott of the New York Giants, listed to start in right field until shortly before game time yesterday, would be of more value in the late innings when that garden would be the sun field prompted the Deacon to make the change.

"It was my hunch that Ott, who is older and more experienced, would be a bit steadier in the sun and that is the only reason for the change," McKechnie said.

West's knockout punch before a man was out in the first combined with an assortment of all star pitching produced the third National league victory and the first shutout of the competition.

Five hurlers the Nationals summoned to the mound—Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters of the Reds, Whit Wyatt of Brooklyn, Larry French of the Cubs and Carl Hubbell of the Giants—doled out but three hits.

Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox, collected a double and a single and Buck Newsom, the bellicose Detroit flinger, cracked a one-baser. Never did the losers have more than one runner on the paths and Appling was the only one to get beyond second.

It was the White Sox shortstop's double off Derringer in the second that brought about West's removal. The Boston clouter tried to make a leaping catch and slammed into the concrete retaining wall. He suffered a bruised hip but is expected to play again Thursday when action is resumed in the big leagues after a three-day layoff.

Billy Herman, the Cub second baseman, laced out three hits—equal of the entire opposition output—and late in the fracas a double play by Eddie Miller of Boston, Pete Coscarart of Brooklyn and Frank McCormick of Cincinnati nipped a threat.

And after McKechnie pulled his first team the "seconds" scored the fourth run off Cleveland's great Bob Feller in the eighth but they needed an error by Catcher Rollie Hemsley to chase the tally across.

Aside from Appling's robust clouting the losers' chief contribution to the entertainment of the 32,373 fans was the fielding of Joe Gordon, Yank middle sacker.

McKechnie's choice of West, who climaxed the first assault on Charley Ruffing, was an admitted "lucky hunch," but he catered to the St. Louis crowd by playing their own Terry Moore in center field the full nine innings although he used 22 of the 25 players allowed him.

Only Manager-Shortstop Leo Durocher of Brooklyn and Pitchers Hugh Mulcahy and Kirby Higbe of the Phillies were inactive.

Akron Takes Loop Lead

Yanks Turn Trick by Licking Red Birds, 19-0.

AKRON—(AP)—The surprising Akron Yankees occupied a shaky seat atop the Mid-Atlantic league ladder today, marking a 32-day rise from the cellar.

The Yanks turned the trick last night with a 19-to-0 rout of the Portsmouth Red Birds, their 13th victory in 18 starts, while the Youngstown Browns were knocking off the Canton Terriers 6 to 2 in Canton.

The results left Akron with a half-game advantage over the Terriers and a full game lead over Youngstown. Charleston, which shut out Dayton 2 to 0 in the West Virginia city, remained in fourth place, only two and a half games off the pace.

Arnold Joins Squad

Mansfield Hurler Added to L-T-M Lineup For All-Star Tilt.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE Lima-Tiffin-Mansfield squad was strengthened today with the addition of Bob Arnold, Mansfield Brave righthander, and the Braves' hurler is expected to toil three innings in the first annual Ohio State league All-Star classic at Lima at 8:30 p. m.

Arnold is one of six Braves who will see service in the contest which is in charge of the circuit's new Writers' association.

Other Mansfielders in the lineup are George Laurila, Howard Beals, Herb Woodten, Hal Hundemer, Dick Morse and Harry Seighert. Manager Dewey Stover will be one of the coaches for the L-T-M team.

Arnold was added to the list of moundsmen early today when Manager Merle Settlemire, Lima pilot, who will be the manager of the L-T-M club, requested the sports scribes in six cities to increase the staff to five men.

Arnold

The L-T-M outfit will clash with a squad selected from the Findlay, Fremont and Fostoria teams, and it favored to cop the initial game.

Manager Settlemire is expected to use either Frank Biscan, lefthander, or Ed Evans, righthander, Lima players, to open the game.

While the starting lineup has not been announced it is expected that the L-T-M infield will consist of John Cindric of Lima, first; Jack Cassini, Tiffin, second; Harlin Kiersey, Lima, third, and Howard Beals, Mansfield, at short. In the outfield will be Ed Kudrycki, Tiffin, left; Ed Joseph, Tiffin, center, and Herb Woodten, Mansfield, right. Ralph Weigel of Lima will be behind the plate.

Against this array of talent Manager Grover Hartley, Findlay boss, who will pilot the three "F" club, will probably use Joe David, Fostoria, first; Harry Stephenson, Findlay, second; Paul Huelsman, Findlay, third, and George Todhunter, Findlay, short. The outfield will be made up of Ted Haas, Fremont, left; George Simon, Findlay, center, and Joe Cannon, Findlay, right.

Hartley may start Robert Ewing, southpaw, with Bill Tonz of Fremont behind the plate.

Umpires of the game are Harry Lindsay, umpire in chief; Mike Apel, Stan Carhart and Al Alveraz.

Bill Snypp, Lima News sports editor, who is president of the Writers' association, is preparing to handle a record gathering. According to pre-game dope some 3,800 spectators will fill Halloran park to capacity tonight.

Has Designs On Clay Title

Vincent Paul Outpoints Davis Cup Star In Tourney.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Vincent Paul, a big, red-haired designer of men's clothing who still doesn't know whether he'd rather live in Detroit or Brooklyn, admitted yesterday that he has serious designs on the New York state clay court tennis championship.

This was immediately after he had defeated George Lyttleton-Rogers, former Irish Davis Cup star, in a stirring three-set match to enter the quarter finals.

* * *

Paul already has become the sensation of the tournament, stealing the spotlight from a dozen or so nationally-known players. Only one other, top-seeded Don McNeill of Kenyon college, has advanced as far in the tourney. He joined Paul in the round of eight with a 7-5, 6-4 victory over George Pero of Miami, Fla.

WRESTLING RESULTS

INDIANAPOLIS—Dome Roche, 222, Decatur, Ill., defeated Chris Zaharias, 229, Pueblo, Colo., two of three falls. Pete Managoff, 218, St. Louis, defeated Angelo Cistoldi, 225, Boston, 18 minutes.

Cabbies Bow To Tappans

Service Club Fails to Hit In Pinches, Lose 10-4.

Service Cabs softball combination bowed to the Tappan Stove diamond artists, 10 to 4, in a postponed Y. M. C. A. Commercial league contest last night on the Blue Goose diamond.

Although they smashed out 14 hits to Tappan's 13, the Service Cabs failed to hit in the pinches. Miner, Service catcher, led the hitters with three safeties.

Cotter was on the mound for the winners, while Parr took over the mound duties for the Cabbies.

TOLEDO—(AP)—Displaying championship form, Greyhound equaled his best time of the 1940 season—2:01¼ in straight heats—to win the $2,500 free-for-all trot in last night's program of grand circuit harness racing at Fort Miami track.

The gray gelding, owned by E. J. Baker, of St. Charles, Ill., and driven by Sep Palin, crosssed the finish line four lengths in front of Dale Hanover.

Herman Players Win 8th

Outpoint Ringside Nite Club, 7 to 4, as Jim Fullager Hurls.

By GEORGE SATTLER

MANSFIELD'S highly-touted Sons of Herman softball combination, recognized as one of the outstanding clubs in the state, scored its eighth straight triumph yesterday at Liberty park.

The Ringside Nite club outfit was the victim, coming out on the short end of a 7 to 4 tally.

Throughout the nine-inning stretch the Hermans kept safely out in front behind the seven-hit hurling of Jimmy Fullager, ace moundsman for the Sons of Herman. They pushed over one run in the first frame, three in the fourth, two in the fifth, and one in the sixth for their seven-run total.

The Ringsiders were held scoreless until the sixth inning, when they managed to push over two runs. The Nite club outfit also got two more in the seventh to total its four runs.

Henrich, Herman first baseman, outshone all the other inhabitants of the batter's box by getting three hits out of three trips to the plate for a perfect score. Henrich smashed out two singles and a double.

Stout, Herman rightfielder, and Geiger, leftfielder on the same club, also got a share of the batting limelight by getting two hits apiece. Stout belted out a double and a single out of four trips. Geiger netted two singles out of three journeys to the plate.

Kopcial, Ringside first sacker, and Hipp, Nite club shortstop, led the losers. Kopcial chalked up a double and Hipp a triple. No Ringside batter managed to get more than one hit off Fullager.

Pete Deschner was on the mound for the Ringsiders, allowing the hard-hitting Hermans only eight safeties. The Hermans have gone undefeated this year.

Sloan's Drugs Oust Printers From 1st Place

Hand Richland Club Stinging 4 to 1 Defeat to Take Over Top Position.

SLOAN'S DRUGS foursome soared into top position in The News-Journal Class "A" golf loop last night by handing the Richland Printing outfit, league leaders through most of the first round, a stinging 4 to 1 shellacking at Possum Run.

The defeat sent the Printers back into second place, just one point ahead of the steadily climbing Long Barmen.

Out of the four individual matches played by the two clubs, Ray Oakes was the only Printer to forge his way into the win column. Oakes shot a neat 37 to flatten Harold Bogner who paced off the nine holes in 42.

Frank Cipris and Art Van Auker, of the Sloan's Drugs, barely defeated Pete Linster and John Kleshinski, number one and two men for the Richland club. Cipris shot a 36 against Linster's 37, while Van Auker's 41 barely edged Kleshinski's 42.

Grant Hanawalt of the Drugmen, however, scored easily over Harry Schlegel by smacking out a par-smashing 35, to share low-scoring honors with Pete Zeides of the Greystone Nite club team who also got a 35 yesterday.

* * *

Runners-up for scoring honors were Al Hager, Yunckers, Al Kushin, Mansfield Athletic Supply, and Frank Cipris, Sloan's Drugs, with 36's; and Pete Linster, Richland Printing, Ray Oakes, Richland Printing, Joe Mayer, Barnes & Schmid Tires, and Carl Kushin, Long Bar, with 37's.

Results in other matches were: Yuncker Brothers 2, Oak's club 1; Long Bar 2, Mansfield Athletic Supply 1, and Barnes & Schmid Tires 3, Greystone Nite club 2.

CHIEF, I APPRECIATE THIS IS A TREMENDOUS EMERGENCY – AND I'VE NEVER DONE THIS BEFORE, BUT EVEN AT THE RISK OF JEOPARDIZING MY STANDING IN THE SERVICE, I MUST BEG OFF FROM THIS ASSIGNMENT ----
--THERE IS ONLY ONE THING COULD HAPPEN THAT WOULD MAKE IT POSSIBLE FOR ME TO LEAVE HERE AT THIS TIME, AND THAT WOULD BE A MIRACLE! —AND MIRACLES DON'T HAPPEN, THESE DAYS!
WHEW! THIS FOOL GIRL IS SIMPLY DRIVING ME CRAZY WITH HER BUNGLING! – I NEVER REALLY APPRECIATED WHAT A PRECIOUS JEWEL PAMELA WAS!
GAIL KNOW WHAT I'D LIKE TO DO TODAY? GO DOWN TO COLONEL CAREY'S OFFICE – SEE HOW HE'S GETTING ALONG —MAYBE I COULD DO SOMETHING TO HELP HIS NEW SECRETARY GET THE HANG OF THINGS

LITTLE BUYING FAILS TO MOVE STOCK MARKET

Few Shares Jump, as Others Fall, But Most Remain Strictly Calm.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Scattered buying in a few utility holding company and miscellaneous industrial shares barely ruffled the calm surface of the stock market today.

Electric Power & Light $6 preferred jumped 2 and the $7 issue more than 1 on light buying. American Power & Light senior shares also advanced.

Small declines were recorded in Westinghouse, Eastman, U. S. Steel, Douglas, United Aircraft, Sperry, U. S. Gypsum and Texas corporation.

Many bonds stretched previous gains a little. Commodities were mixed. Steel shares made an early gesture upward after "Iron Age" said a steady inflow of steel orders, supplementing those already on the books of producers, "assures a continued high rate of steel operations for some time to come."

Resumption of corporate financing on a sizable scale—marked by offering of $60,000,000 in Texas Corp. Debentures—was rated in financial sources a hopeful development.

Additional rail equipment buying was expected in view of the rising trend of freight loadings in recent months and anticipation of a war industry boom.

COUNCIL WARNS HOME OWNERS

Decides to Enforce Ordinance To Keep Roof Waters From Sanitary Sewer Lines.

Names of violators are listed in the report of a recent WPA roof drainage survey.

"I believe that 95 per cent of the people will comply with the request without any arguing," Miller said.

Councilman Russell Porch pointed out that it must be the roof water that causes all the trouble for there are no complaints about water in basements except after heavy rains.

While the city tries to get at the source of the trouble, plans for a big WPA sewer and water lines project probably will be mapped to submit to the federal government late in the summer. Council is expected to set up the plans at its August meeting and give more thought to means of financing the project. City Engineer W. C. Statler said the sewer-water lines project would be ideal for WPA if the money and men are available.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe, who attended last night's session, told council it probably could issue "several thousand dollars worth of bonds" inside the 10-mill tax limitation, but such a procedure would jeopardize the city's operating funds. Bonds outside the limitation require a popular vote.

City Auditor Paul Kelley also opposed issuing bonds now and so did Councilman Shultz who added that it probably will be necessary to sell bonds to finance the city's share of the grade elimination project at the B. and O. and Pennsylvania railroads west of the city.

Meanwhile, the councilmen decided to have as many sewers cleaned and repaired as possible from a $20,000 surplus in the sanitary sewer and sewage disposal funds.

The WPA roof drainage survey showed that water from the roofs of 2,937 homes, or about 28 per cent of all of them in the city, is being turned into the sanitary sewers overtaxing them when there is a heavy shower and flooding basements. The trouble has been largely in the southern and western parts of the city.

Councilman Shultz said property owners could turn roof water "into the street, onto their lawns and gardens, or any place where it won't run into sanitary sewers that can't handle it."

FLOOD CONTROL

TIFFIN—(AP)—Mayor Charles S. Yingling said today U. S. army engineers had submitted a Sandusky river flood control plan designed to save Tiffin $9,000 annually by preventing property damage from high water. The proposed calls for city purchase of a site for a dam and islands north of here. The federal government would do all dredging.

NAVAL BATTLE OFF COAST OF ITALY WAGED

Both Italians and British Claim Victory In Fight In Ionian Sea.

also met in a joint secret session to affirm a bill empowering a sweeping revision of the French government into a virtual dictatorship under the 84-year-old Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

German air raids on Britain continued. The British said nine German planes were shot down and at least 10 persons were killed in Nazi attacks yesterday.

Vying with war news for interest was the appointment of the Duke of Windsor as governor general and commander-in-chief of the Bahamas.

The man who once was King Edward VII but gave up his reign in order to wed the woman of his choice—Wallis Warfield Simpson—will govern the little colony of less than 68,000 persons, off the Florida coast.

Italian Version

ROME—Probable sinking of a British battleship and loss of an Italian detroyer and submarine were reported today in an official Italian communique describing the naval engagement in the Mediterranean.

The Italians admitted that 29 sailors were killed and 69 wounded.

The communique stated:

"On July 8 reconnaissance planes signalled that British naval forces, divided in three groups and including some aircraft carriers, were sighted between the island of Crete and the north African coast, preceeding westward.

"Further confirmation was given shortly afterward by one of our submarines which torpedoed and sank one of the enemy destroyers.

"Our aviation immediately left its base and with tireless activity subjected the enemy naval formation all day long to repeated and extremely effective bombing attacks. Some of the vesssels were hit and seriously damaged, and fires were visible aboard

"It is believed one warship—probably a battleship—was sunk.

"All our planes returned except one, which was forced to land in Grecian territory. The crew is safe.

"Although reduced, the English naval formation held to its route, leading to the supposition that its objective was to raid the central Mediterranean and to attack by sea and air some important coastal positions of ours.

"Consequently, strong groups of our fleet took to sea to head off the attempt.

"Late in the afternoon of July 9, although bad conditions of visibility had hindered air reconnaissance, our fleet succeeded in coming in contact with the enemy in the Ionian sea while important air forces joined the action from the sky

"After brief intensive firing, the enemy gave up its objective and moved off toward the southeast.

"Only one of our warships was hit. The damage is repairable in a few days. Twenty-nine members of the crew were killed in the fight, and 69 wounded.

"Our aviation, notwithstanding extremely strong anti-aircraft fire, followed the enemy until darkness, striking some of his ships with bombs of heavy calibre.

"Our destroyer Zefiro was sunk, but the crew is safe. One of our submarines failed to return to its base.

"Another English naval formation leaving Gibraltar was sighted heading northeast. Sighted by our aviation July 9 south of the Balearics, it was subjected to a violent, day-long bombing with evidence of effective results

"Three of our planes failed to return to their bases."

British Version

LONDON—(UP)—The admiralty announced today that a great naval battle in the Mediterranean sea has developed into a chase of Italian naval forces by the British.

The first big fight for Mediterranean supremacy, an admiralty communique said, had resulted in no casualties among British ships

The communique was the second issued by the admiralty on the Mediterranean battle It said.

As announced earlier today an action which quickly developed into a chase of Italian ships has taken place between British and Italian naval forces in the Mediterranean,

In the absence of information to the contrary it must be assumed that the (Italian) naval forces—at least one heavy unit of which had suffered damage—gained the shelter of their (the Italian) shore defenses.

Further details of the engagement have not yet been received but in view of mendacious reports often circulated by the enemy the (British) commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean has signalled that there were no casualties among the (British) ships engaged yesterday.

Since its first communique the admiralty has insisted that the Mediterranean engagement was a pursuit of the Italian fleet by British forces.

Carol Arrests Nazi Leader.

BUCHAREST —(AP)— The ministry of propaganda announced today the arrest of Gen Ion Antonescu, veteran leader of Rumania's pro-Nazi "iron guard," as King Carol II moved to prevent the Iron Guard from wresting control of the government from him.

Antonescu, who had been trying to unite various Iron Guard groups, was seized yesterday at Predeal, in the Transylvania foothills, "because of an unfriendly attitude towards the present regime," the ministry said.

The king strove to win the support of all factions and quell any internal threat to his totalitarian "party of the nation" to present a united front against outside danger to Rumania's existence.

King Carol has forbidden revival of any outlawed political parties.

A government decree last night forbade the sale outside Rumania of stock in any foreign-owned Rumania company. This action was taken after reports spread that the $100,000,000 British oil interests here might be transferred to Russia.

These reports arose simultaneously with disclosure that for weeks British-produced oil has been going to Germany, except for small quantities to Yugoslavia, Hungary and Bulgaria, because the war in the Mediterrean prevented British exportation.

PLAN ELEVATOR AT COURTHOUSE

Commissioners Map Extensive Alteration Program For County Building.

in the early 1870's. The fourth floor was never finished for occupancy.

The elevator will permit use of the fourth floor where a space of 50 by 50 feet will be converted into four new offices.

When the elevator is in service, the big entrance corridors on the second floor, to the north and west, will be closed and absorbed into much-needed office expansion, commissioners explained.

The north corridor will be divided between the now crowded treasurer's office and the recorder's office, while the main entrance corridor on the west will be divided between the treasurer's office on the north side and the auditor's office on the south side.

The plan calls for removing the old stone steps on the north and west sides of the building, and landscaping the small space that will be left vacant.

Entrances will remain where they are at present on the ground floor, so there will be no steps to climb either outside or inside. The inside steps will remain as they are, however, since removing them, commissioners said, would be expensive and probably would weaken the structure on the south side.

C. L. Mitchell chairman of commissioners, said today that while there had been some talk of a new building for the past few years, he believed that the old building, still very substantial, was good for a number of years if it were kept in repair

Work started today on replacing window sills and frames on the south side of the building.

Funds for repairs will be taken from the county's general fund. Commissioners said extensive work will not be started on the [illegible] until late in the fall

Boys Draw for Sponsored Soapbox Racers

A portion of the group of youngsters who attended the drawing to see who would drive sponsored racers in the Fourth annual Mansfield Soap Box Derby are pictured in the top photo. Don D. Cram, Derby Director, and Charles Martin, of the News-Journal, who handled the drawings, are shown watching Elton Downs, 148 East Second street pull the first number at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. In the bottom picture are the winners, who are, left to right, Carl Farmer, 15, 1 Green street; Norman Pore, 14, of 263 Hammond avenue; Elton Downs, 14, of 148 East Second street; Albert Bechtler, 13, of 36 Crouse street and Richard Meister, 13, of Mansfield, R. Five Lucky Boys Smile--They Win Material for Derby Cars

Five young Mansfield boys are wearing happy smiles today—and rightly too, for they are going to drive coasters in the fourth annual Mansfield Soap Box Derby Wednesday, Aug. 7, and their cars aren't going to cost them a cent.

The lads are going to build cars sponsored by Mansfield concerns and they won the right to own the cars by being the lucky youngsters in the drawing conducted by Don D. Cram, Derby director, at the Mansfield Y. M. C. A. yesterday.

Each Mansfield concern will pay the total cost of materials—not to exceed $10—and will place its name on the side of the racer.

These youths have a chance of winning an all-expense trip to Akron to take part in the National Soap Box Derby Sunday, Aug. 11.

The winners and their sponsors are: Richard Meister, 13, of Mansfield, R. D. 3—Axtell Dairy company; Carl Farmer, 15, of 1 Green street—W. T. Grant company; Elton Downs, 14 of 148 East Second street — Krupp Cycle company; Norman Pore, 14, of 263 Hammond avenue—Ohio Public Service company, and Albert Bechtler, 13, of 36 Krause street—Mansfield Savings Trust National bank.

With a record entry expected for the Derby, sponsored by The News-Journal in co-operation with the Mohican Chevrolet company and the Y. M. C. A., Cram requests all Richland county youths planning to enter the event to register at once so they will have time to assemble their racers.

Special Drivers' meetings will be held at the Y. M. C. A. and Cram, who is in charge of the sessions, will set the date for the meets. He will discuss the new rules and assist any youth in building his coaster.

A large list of special prizes in addition to the regular Derby prizes will be awarded the winner of the Mansfield classic and to respective heat winners. Prizes will be announced at a later date.

Registration blanks may be obtained at the Mohican Chevrolet and Y. M. C. A.

There are two classes for the event—boys between 11 and 12, inclusive, can compete in the Class B Division, while youths between 13 and 15, inclusive, must enter the Class A Division.

Oberlin College President Backs Training Measure

OBERLIN — (U.P) — President Ernest Hatch Wilkins today commended the Burke-Wadsworth military training bill in a letter to 500 Oberlin college men, members of the sophomore, junior and senior classes.

With the letter, Dr. Wilkins will send copies of the bill. The copies were furnished by the emergency committee of the military training camps association of the United States.

Dr. Wilkins said he believed the bill was an "inescapable necessity," and that its enactment would "diminish the danger of our becoming involved in war."

fears have been expressed by government officials on both sides of the Atlantic that the evacuation will not be speeded up sufficiently to permit British children to escape the horrors of the threatened air and land invasion of the country by the German enemy.

A number of Mansfield families, it was learned today, have been attempting privately to bring British children here, or have been asked to do so.

Mrs. Jack Rogers, 150 Newman street, who agreed to care for three children, said she had had no word from her husband's brother grandfather of the children.

Mrs. Lawrence Connelly, jr., North Canton, daughter of H. W. Hoover, president of the Hoover company, vacuum cleaner makers, today had three British children at her home. Their father, Eric Colston, is manager of the Hoover company in England. Fifteen children were reported due to embark from England soon for homes in Akron.

RUSH TO GET BIRTH PAPERS

Vacationists Going to Canada Must Have Them Before They Can Return to U. S.

attempt will be made to devise some satisfactory way of certifying dates and places of birth for persons who have no certificate of record.

Probate Judge C. P. McClelland, of Franklin county who called the meeting, said the judges would like to issue declaratory judgments for those who can prove their birth claims but whose records have been lost or never made. These judgments would be legal but not statutory he said.

The rush for birth certificates throughout the state has been occasioned largely by a new U. S. ruling which went into effect July 1.

The ruling caught many Americans in Canada on vacations or business trips without evidence of their place and date of birth and necessitated their waiting at border points until birth certificates could be obtained for them in the U. S.

Canada requires no passports from U. S. visitors but the U. S. does require birth certificate copies from all those entering the country from Canada.

3-CAR CRASH

SHELBY -- Three cars were involved in a traffic accident Tuesday on Main street near the intersection of Church street.

A car driven by Richard Shupp, R. D. 1, Shelby, struck cars driven by Hershel Stevens of 93 North Gamble street and John Henry of 24 Summit street. Shupp was driving east on Main street, police said, when the accident occurred.

shaking buildings for miles inland, and turned toward France, according to British accounts.

The government announced that "a few persons had been killed on the south coast of Britain when German bombers struck there.

Anti-aircraft batteries went into action elsewhere along the coast as raiders made attacks which have become almost a daily routine. Many casualties were reported to have been caused in Wales by German bombs.

"When our planes returned," one witness said, "they did a sort of war dance in the sky, cutting figure eights in apparent high glee at having put eight of the enemy to flight and accounted for at least two of them.

Anti-aircraft batteries were kept active elsewhere along the English coast as German raiders continued a series of attacks which have become daily routine.

One Nazi bomber penetrated Wales and dumped its bombs before fleeing under heavy fire.

In one district of Wales, many casualties were caused by German bombs.

One man was killed and many houses were damaged when German planes dropped five bombs on a town in southwest England after daylight this morning.

A German Dornier 17 bomber was shot down by British fighter planes off the east coast of England early this morning, the air ministry announced.

A total of nine German planes were shot down yesterday, the air ministry said, adding one to its previous total.

Germans Report Raids on Britain.

BERLIN —(AP)— The German high command announced today that frequent air battles had been fought over the English channel as Nazi warplanes bombed British ships off England's eastern and southern coasts and attacked munitions works and oil tanks ashore.

The daily communique said one patrol boat and three merchantmen totalling 26,000 tons had been sunk in the air attacks on England, while ten other merchant ships had been damaged and some set afire.

Fires and explosions were caused at munitions works at Leeds, Norwich, Tilbury and Swansea, the communique assesrted.

Mayor Morris stated that all traffic violators would be brought into police headquarters and fined. Numerous complaints have been received by police of double parking, parking on the wrong side of the street, speeding and other traffic violations, Mayor Morris said.

Democrats Meet Monday to Name Presidential Choice

CHICAGO PUTS OUT WELCOME TO DELEGATES

23,000 Visitors Expected In City For Opening of Convention.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Flags, bunting and "Welcome Conventionists" signs today greeted delegates as they began moving into Chicago in steadily increasing numbers for the Democratic national convention which opens next Monday.

Finishing touches were being put on the Chicago Stadium, scene of the convention, by 100 workmen. James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, visited the arena, found the work progressing satisfactorily and said everything would be ready by Monday for the housing of 2,400 delegates and alternates and approximately 23,000 visitors to the party's 1940 convention.

Delegates crowding the hotel lobbies divided their political chatter into two topics:

1. The mystery surrounding the question: "Will President Roosevelt run for a third term?
2. How to beat Willkie?

Farley continued to keep Mr. Roosevelt's political plans confidential and nobody but the Democratic chairman and the president himself knew the answer to question No. 1.

Regarding Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, it seemed to be the consensus of arriving Democratic delegates that he will prove to be a formidable candidate. But many of them insisted he is vulnerable.

Jockeying Starts For Vice President.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Continued pre-convention mystery over President Roosevelt's ultimate third term decision served only to stir up a lot of jockeying in Democratic ranks today all based on the assumption that the chief executive will consent to run for re-election

Vice presidential hopefuls were busy laying their lines to get on the ticket with Mr. Roosevelt at Chicago next week, while friends were quietly boosting various prominent party men for the job of managing a precedent-shattering race for a third term.

If the president finally consents to the nomination, he will select, by the time-honored custom, both his running mate and his campaign manager. Therefore the current agitation around the national capital was aimed squarely at White House ears.

White House associates believe Mr. Roosevelt would seek his running mate between Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Associate Justice W. O. Douglas of the Supreme Court, and Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Overnight, a careful effort was made to promote the name of Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones. This move came from a distinctly conservative element in the Democratic party. Although Jones would add weight to the ticket, it is understood the 66-year-old banking genius has no ambitions in that direction.

Willkie Condemns Telegraph Probe.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(UP)—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, condemned today a purported move to investigate a "telegraphic campaign" on behalf of his candidacy at the Philadelphia convention.

His statement was in response to a promise of Sen. Guy Gillette, D., Iowa, head of the senate campaign investigating committee, to look into the "alleged high pressure telegraphic campaign on behalf of Wendell Willkie" after having received written complaints.

Gillette previously had said that the Philadelphia convention delegates were "deluged" with telegrams espousing the Willkie candidacy.

Willkie, in an obviously aroused mood, said that anyone "could investigate for ever" the conduct of his campaign at Philadelphia without finding anything damaging.

Real Estate Tax Payments $40,000 Ahead of July '39

Richland county tax returns are more than $40,500 ahead of the same period last year, according to John E. Kolb, county treasurer.

The treasurer's book today shows $109,587 in tax returns for the first nine days of the collection period, while the first nine days of the mid-year collection last year showed $69,047, a gain of $40,540.

Kolb said that so far as the individual tax payments are concerned the books are about the same, but that several industries had paid earlier this year than last and this had hiked the total income. Among these was more than $11,000 in taxes paid by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company on its Mansfield real estate.

The mid-year collection period, which represents taxes for the last half of 1939 opened July 1 and closes Aug. 20, Kolb said.

the American "leathernecks."

Every speech at the meeting was crowded with violent condemnation of America and everything American. The speakers were interrupted by hisses and boos at virtually every mention of the United States

More than 2,000 other Japanese, unable to gain admission to the hall, jammed the street outside and echoed the demonstrations of the crowd within.

Japanese special agents mingled with the crowd and prevented a proposed reading of an anti-Occidental manifesto across Garden bridge toward the International Settlement sections occupied by British and American forces. The Japanese authorities expressed satisfaction that the meeting passed off "quietly"

The resolution asking Admiral Takeda to demand a public apology will be handed the naval officer tomorrow by a committee chosen at the meeting.

One of the speakers at the gathering demanded complete withdrawal of American marines from China, accusing them of having "disgraced the Japanese gendarmes before the eyes of Chinese girls" Another described the Americans as having "civilized faces but addicted to cannibal actions."

Still another orator demanded "severe punishment" for all the marines in the incident, and demanded the Americans be forced to kneel and kiss the sun-burst flag of Japan.

The meeting was summoned by the Japanese military newspaper Tairiku, which was the only publication to report the details. Other newspapers suppressed news of the meeting in order that the Japanese-American "incident" might not be further aggravated.

Admiral Takeda himself added fresh fuel to the controversy by declaring the actions of the American marines "barbarous beyond description."

Goldsmith Opens Remodeled Store To Public Friday

Especially designed for the store by the Schwartz-Showell corporation, Columbus, the new department adjoins a completely remodeled and extended furnishings department.

Aaron Goldsmith, who founded the store 18 years ago with two employes—a number now increased to nine, explained today that the new department will be air conditioned with Westinghouse equipment.

Knotty pine display cases, new "marbleized" floor covering, and direct spotlighting chandeliers will greet visitors to the formal opening of the new clothing department at Goldsmith's men's wear store, 48 North Main street, Friday, between 7 and 11 p. m.

All fittings and decorations in the addition to the store are entirely new, Goldsmith said.

The store is exclusive agent in this part of Ohio for Fashion Park, Varsity Town, and Goodmate suits and Dobbs hats.

BRICKER REFUSES FAIRGROUNDS USE TO JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W Bricker refused today to interfere with a ruling of Agriculture Director John T Brown denying a religious sect use of the state fairgrounds for national convention July 24-28

Brown signed a contract with the sect, known as Jehovah's Witnesses last March, but rescinded it recently on grounds the group refused to salute the American flag After Brown's action was upheld in federal court, the Witnesses presented bundles of petitions to Bricker urging that use of the grounds be permitted

In a letter to Frederick Thieret of Cleveland, Bricker said.

"I was advised by representatives of your group that your members refuse to salute the American flag. There is no religious connotation in saluting or refusing to salute the American flag. Loyalty to the flag and to the government that it represents strengthens and never weakens one's religious convictions."

He added that he had no authority to alter Brown's decision and could not permit use of the grounds

ARMY QUOTA OF 7,200 IN OHIO

Fifth Corps Area Fills 73 Per Cent of Enlistment In First Month.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Army recruiting stations in Ohio will be called upon to enlist approximately 7,200 men as their quota under the expansion program to raise the army's enlisted strength to 375,000, the adjutant general's office disclosed today.

An additional 1,250 to 1,500 men were expected to be sought in Ohio when funds are made available for the proposed increase to 400,000.

The fifth corps area, comprising Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky, filled 73 per cent of its 1,875-man quota during the first month in which the army sought its first procurement of 13,194 enlistments Nationally, the quota was only two-thirds filled.

During July and August, the army has requisitioned the nine corps areas for an additional 38,000 men, of which the fifth corps area has been allocated 4,560. The third increasement of 95,000 men, for which funds have just been voted by congress, will require an estimated 1,400 enlistments from the fifth corps area.

40 INJURED

Commuters Train Crashes Into Terminal Bumper Block.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Forty passengers were injured or shaken up today when a 14-car commuters train of the New York Central railroad crashed into a bumper block at Grand Central terminal at the height of the morning rush hour.

Hundreds of other passengers were hurled to the floor of the cars by the impact which shattered windows throughout the train.

Ambulances were summoned from half a dozen city hospitals when the terminal's hospital staff found their facilities overtaxed.

It was believed that the majority escaped serious injury and suffered bruises, sprains and lacerations, the latter caused by flying window splinters

HOUSE NUMBERS ON 4,500 CITY HOMES CHANGED

All But 300 Have Numbers Corrected, Statler Says: Re-Check Completed.

All but about 300 property owners in Mansfield have complied with the new street numbering system out of 4,800 affected, according to City Engineer W. C. Statler

The entire project is expected to be completed when the new ordinance governing the size of house numbers becomes effective Every number, under the ordinance must be at least four inches high and plainly visible to the street Statler explained that while the ordinance was not retroactive and property owners whose numbers were not changed cannot be forced to comply, he believed that most all of them would willingly co-operate

A city-wide recheck on the changed numbers has just been completed by the city, with George Bolesky in charge. Statler said the recheck showed that all but 300 property owners who were given different street numbers, had already made the change. These are expected to have made the change by Aug. 1 when the ordinance goes into effect.

However if the changes have not been made by that time the city may under the ordinance, change the numbers and put the cost on the tax duplicate of the property owner This procedure would include costs and would be much more expensive than if the property owners did the work themselves, Statler said

"In very few instances," he said, "Bolesky's workers encountered any objection to the changed addresses, while most people were very co-operative"

Most of the old numbers in the city were put on houses in numerals three inches high.

The Mansfield Telephone company today announced that changes in residence numbers are being made so that all will be corrected before the new telephone directory is published.

Mansfield News-Journal
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
MANSFIELD, OHIO WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1940.

Whatever defense may cost, it's much cheaper than war.

October 31 is the date now set for the end of the world—and it'll at least be the end of October.

As Robert Quillen puts it: "If you are poor and sick, it is much better to have no money at all. Then quacks won't monkey with you."

A Strange France

THE American people are now confronted with another one of those lightning changes in Europe—one that may seem even more difficult to become accustomed to than many of the previous changes.

That is the defection of France from the ranks of democratic countries, and its seemingly willing embrace of totalitarian rule.

It is truly a strange picture. France, land of liberty, equality and fraternity, becomes as Fascist as Italy, as Nazi as Germany. It is a transition seemingly accomplished not in years, not in months, but literally in hours.

For many years, Americans have looked on the French as their closest counterparts anywhere in the world. France to Americans was like America—a land of individual freedom of thought, expression, action. Now it becomes a land of regimentation.

Gradually, however, as the true story of the situation in France seeps out, the reason for the chameleon-like change in political control becomes clear.

What has been done in France has not been done by the will of the people, who, if they are aware of the burden that has been thrust upon them, will not be allowed to be very vocal in their protests.

What has been done in France is due primarily to the lack of national unity and purpose, to the shocking ineptitude and near-treason of some of her political leaders.

Recall some of the facts—a nationalized airplane industry that turned out exactly three military planes in one pre-war month; the admitted lack of materials and ammunition when the war broke out; the indecisive leadership of army generals; the apparent unwillingness of some high officials to wage any war at all.

This was the France that tried, for a time, to stand off the German juggernaut. The result was armistice, complete surrender and now Nazi-dominated and Fascist-dominated totalitarian government.

But it is the government of France that has changed—not the people. Grant that the French are not—as they were once asserted to be—the greatest fighters in the world; grant that they have paid more attention to shorter working hours than to preparedness in the face of a mighty enemy. Yet the French people themselves, though they have treated their liberty, equality and fraternity with utter frivolousness, are not likely to bow gracefully to the yoke of dictatorship.

True, at the present they have not the power to throw it off. But it would be difficult to believe that the flaming spirit that brought on the French revolution of the 18th century has now ebbed to such a tiny spark that it eventually will not again be fanned into flames.

It is a strange France that the world looks upon now—but the fallen third republic may yet rise to its former freedom.

No Quarrel Here

THERE can scarcely be a quarrel with the report of the International Association of Police Chiefs which recommends an increase in the number of state patrolmen in Ohio.

Accepted from the outside as a forward step in patrolling state highways in the interest of safety and traffic law enforcement, the patrol idea has suffered from the lack of enough men to make it effective.

Any Ohio motorist who has ever driven in Pennsylvania, New York or many another eastern state, realizes how undermanned is the Ohio patrol.

True, the police powers of the patrols in other states are wider, perhaps needing a larger number of men than Ohio needs for traffic work alone. Yet it is a physical impossibility for fewer than 150 men to do an effective job on all the thousands of miles of Ohio roads, even with the aid of fast cars, motorcycles and radio communications.

In many instances, the value of the patrol has been effectively proven. Cordons have been thrown around large areas to prevent the escape of bank robbers, and speedy action in accident emergencies has often prevented more serious consequences.

To date, the state highway patrol has proven itself a welcome and efficient agency. The report of the police chiefs' association ought not be ignored.

Precaution Needed Here

THE current outbreak of home burglaries—no less than 14 instances in the past week—ought to awaken Mansfield residents to the need for a few simple precautions.

Though the loot obtained in most cases has been small, none of these burglaries need have occurred. More care in locking doors and windows, leaving less obvious evidence that the house was vacant—if even for an afternoon—and the chances are that all such depredations could have been thwarted.

The most efficient police department in the world can't combat open-handed invitations to intruders. A little personal caution will do more good.

Oriental Adventure

THE United States is now getting threats, compliments and offers from all sides. Here is one of the ingenious ideas for complicating our national life. Francisco Varona, a Philippine labor leader and adviser to the Philippine commissioner at Washington, suggests a federation of Malay states in southeastern Asia under American protection. He has been urging it on Secretary Hull.

The answer is, "No, thank you!" We have plenty of troubles now, without barging into the Far East for new complications.

After having used up a lot of explosives to prove that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states, it's time to get busy piling up ammunition for use against any dictator who thinks otherwise.

Attention is called to the fact that Willkie's name lacks the double o, common to recent presidents—but "hoosier" supplies the deficiency.

No, there isn't any war in Mexico; that noise is only an election.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The world is at war and cataclysmic things are happening . . . and perhaps that is why you haven't heard that the government is going in for machine-chosen men.

Before you know it, you'll be saying, "How did Mr. Zilch get where he is in government circles?" And the answer will be, "A machine put him there."

Over in the civil service commission, they are installing, as fast as they can, bank after bank of machines into which you drop a card and the card comes out telling you just exactly what kind of a job a man should have.

Or let's put it another way: You need an A-1 accountant. You toss a handful of cards into the machine and out come the cards of one or two or a dozen A-1 accountants.

For Goodness' Sake.

The national defense program has made this possible, but it wasn't the prime cause. For a long time, personnel officials have realized that the government hasn't been getting the most it could out of the hundreds of thousands of persons it hires, simply because there has been no way of classifying them and selecting for each job the man or woman whose education, background and experience best suit him for the spot.

There are expert stenographers who are filing clerks, architects serving on the capitol police force, lawyers doing publicity, and chemists writing reports on the shifting farm population.

This situation has come about simply because whenever there was an opening in any department there was a properly and politically recommended person for the job, and he or she got it—regardless of the fact that he or she might speak French where no French was needed, or wring secrets out of a slide rule whereas what was most important was the kind of a hand he or she wrote.

The personnel division of the civil service commission has known about this for years and has been eager to do something about it, but just try something like that on your congressman and see how far YOU get. The defense program made funds available to the commission for just this business of getting the right people for the right jobs (efficiency suddenly comes of age) and, presto, the machines were in.

Survey Under Way.

Already, a staff of 50 is at work on the project, and come August, there will be about 700 persons, all from civil service, thumbing the gadgets to put machine-picked men and women into government roles.

In preparation for this, 750,000 cards are being sent out, under the direction of William P. Lehman, asking for information about education, experience, etc. This survey covers all government employes except field workers of the postal service.

When the data is in it will be transferred to punch cards and filed. Then, when the business of filling a particular spot comes up, the cards will be poured into the machine and, at the rate of 400 a minute, the machine will scan likely prospects and select the likeliest.

The new system will cost about $400,000 a year, but A. C. Edwards, statistics director at the commission, says it would be cheap at a whole lot more than that.

It will reduce the number of examinations for new jobs, cut to a few hours the time necessary to fill a vacancy, and provide an effective system for promotions.

So don't go kicking any machines around. . . . Some day one may determine what job you get.

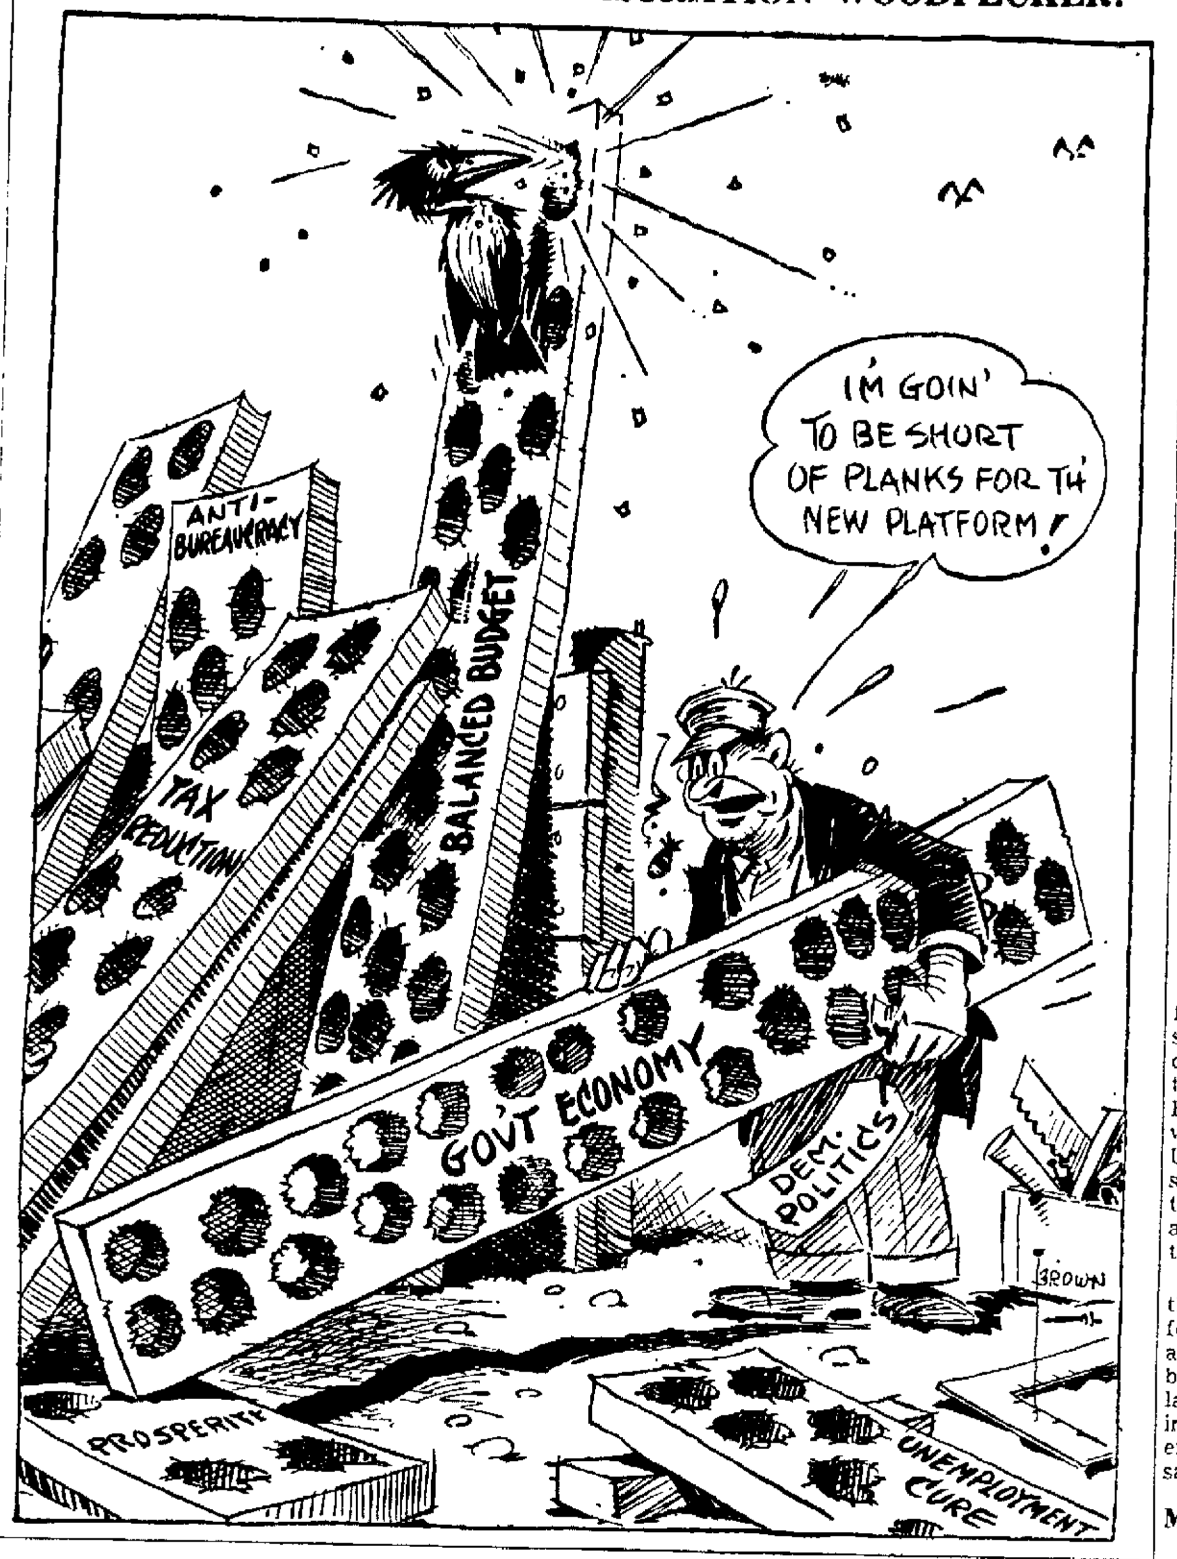
THAT BUSY LITTLE ADMINISTRATION WOODPECKER!



G.O.P. Grins at Third Party Talk

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

THIRD PARTY threats don't worry Wendell Willkie and the Republican organization a particle. In fact, they outright hope that there'll be an independent ticket in the field for the presidency. It won't cost the G. O. P. a single vote, they figure. On the opposite hand, they calculate that it will split the Democrats considerably.

The Democrats, just about to do their nominating, don't admit any feeling of uneasiness. They wouldn't. It would be bad politics.

Nevertheless, they certainly aren't pleased at the idea of a possible bolt from their alignment, and the Republicans are only logical in assuming that that's what a rump nomination would amount to.

That anybody really believes a third candidate could be elected, of course, puts a pretty severe strain upon the average individual's credulity.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler once ran, vice presidentially, on such a ticket, with the elder Senator Robert M. LaFollette. I was at the convention that nominated 'em. And I'll say, based on talks with dozens of 'em, that those Progressives genuinely thought they had a winning ticket.

It would seem as if that outcome ought to have been a convincing experience to Burt Wheeler. Yet you can't tell. And if the Democrats don't nominate Wheeler for president at their Chicago convention, and then if there's a third ticket, it's a cinch that he'll be at the head of it.

If so nominated, he doubtless will accept, as he did the first time, out of pure sincerity. I think he'll be willing to sacrifice himself and be licked if he thinks the country's good demands it.

Some Few Hopes.

The Democrats have some hopes, though.

When Senator Wheeler ran for vice president, with Senator LaFollette, Burt was a senator, but his term wasn't just expiring. He was in a position to run for vice president, but if trimmed for that job, still to stay in the senate.

This time his senatorial term IS expiring.

He can't run for president on a third party ticket and for reelection to the senate simultaneously. If he runs for president and is beaten, he's ditto out of the senate. In brief, he's retired from public life, at least temporarily. And, following retirement, public life is difficult to break back into.

Will Burt choose to run that risk? The administration Democrats devoutly hope not.

The Republicans hope he will.

Supposing Burt gets a third party nomination, Republicans are well suited with his affiliation with John L. Lewis, because they think that will divide his labor support. They're not so well pleased by his identification with the "Doc" Townsend movement. They rate it as nutty but are afraid it's growing.

But Burt is the Democrats' chief worry—not the Republicans'.

Listen, World!

How Much Is Me, Myself?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Some day, when you are tired
Of talking war or taxes,
Try these lines on yourself—
If you've the nerve!

How much of me, I wonder,
Is Myself,
My own, true Self—
And how much
Just a heap
Of borrowings;
Tag ends of this 'n' that
Which other lives
Have dropped
Along the way

These thoughts
I claim to think,
How many are my own?
How often do I ever
"Think things through,"
Retaining only that
Which bears
The honest imprint
Of my private mind?
Or, like a magpie,
Do I snatch
At anything that snares
My roving fancy?
Bright scraps of wit
And ravellings
Of philosophy,
Slogans and wisecracks,
Piffling platitudes,
Pompous inanities,
Gay bits of junk
Which catch my eye—
Is this the worthless litter
Which I proudly call
"My thoughts?"

These feelings
Which I claim
To be my own—
This hate or love,
Envy, delight, despair,
Preference or prejudice,
How many of them
Root in my own heart—
How many of them
Rage in my own blood?
Or are they,
Like so many
Of my thoughts,
Mere gatherings—
Echoes of things I saw,
Or words I heard,
In childhood days,
Copies of gestures
Made by other lives,
Which I have grabbed
And wrapped about myself,
As children dress up
In their elders'
Cast-off clothes,
And romp and prance
And play they're
King or clown?

And-when, at last,
This long play-day is done,
And, through the darkness,
Comes the call for home,
Will I then slip
From all this frippery,
As children slip
From out the clutter
Of their borrowed clothes,
And stand, quite naked,
Stripped of all
The trash and pretense—
Free to be myself—
My true, essential Self
But if I do,
How much, I wonder,
Will there really be
Of my own Self?
Have I a Self, at all,
Or am I only clothes?

Some day, when you are tired
Of talking war or taxes,
Try these lines on yourself—
If you've the nerve!

Timely Editorial

Southern Newsprint.

NEWSPAPER men these days are watching with great interest the samples of newsprint paper that come from the mills at Lufkin, Tex.

The paper seems progressively better in quality, and it is a sample also of what couldn't be done, according to the best opinion of a few years ago. In other words, this newsprint is made from slash pine, formerly considered too resinous for any earthly newspaper use.

The late Dr. Charles H. Herty was mainly responsible for the continuance of experiments with southern pine that eventually led to success, but he was consistently backed by newspaper interests and by progressive business men who were willing to take a chance on developing another substantial industry for this section.

The history of the beginning of newsprint manufacture in the south is interesting in itself, and more valuable perhaps beyond itself if we take it as a suggestion of many somewhat similar things we can do in these parts.

There is at least a fair chance that we shall have to take care of ourselves in more than one respect these next few years in lines where our chief dependence has been abroad.

The south has not yet begun to do more than tap its potentialities of varied industry and production.

A Monument

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

EIGHT YEARS AGO a neighbor near here planted a field of pine trees.

I saw him lately at the village band concert and at the rural church. Both times he mentioned the field of pines he had planted. "It was the finest thing I did before I left the farm," he told me. "We'd cut the timber off and it looked so bare that it hurt my feelings. Then I got the idea of planting little pines. The seedlings didn't cost much, but to clean the whole thing up and get them set out was a lot of work. They looked so green and new they made the whole farm more interesting; and in wintertime, sticking their heads above the snow, they make a sight a body can't forget.

"I'm an old man now. I moved away last spring and left the land. I know I'll never see the pine forest, straight and tall, but maybe some o' the youngsters of today'll be glad it's planted. I rented my farm but that don't keep me from goin' back to see that field of green trees. It feels like home, up there. I hope you'll go and see them for yourself."

Today I went up to see his pines, though well I knew that he had tasted a joy about that field that never could be mine, or anyone else's. His hard old hands had labored to make real the vision of service and beauty that his mind had nurtured for years before. Thoughts and dreams grow large and imminent long before a worthwhile task is even begun.

I met the young man who had rented the land. He asked me graciously to look around and showed me the large neat dairy stables, the huge empty silo, and the spacious mows. He even showed me the interior of the house, where all the woodwork—wainscoating, cupboards, doors and broad floor boards — was made of finished walnut, knotless and beautifully grained.

Then we walked across the orchard where calves and pigs were pasturing, until we came to the border of the pines.

"He didn't do it all for himself either," remarked the tenant, "but those trees mean a lot to him personally. He said to me the last time he was out—we stood right here and he fingered one little branch—'No one needs to buy a monument for me—this is all I ask'."

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—How firmly Roosevelt intends to protect New Deal gains for labor during the emergency period of national defense was illustrated in a private conversation he had with Admiral William Leahy, now retired from the navy and serving as governor of Puerto Rico.

Admiral Leahy is one of the most trusted defense advisers around the president. The two men are close personal friends, and when Leahy was chief of naval operations he virtually ran the navy department. Several weeks ago, Roosevelt called Leahy back from Puerto Rico and conferred with him about taking over the job of national defense co-ordinator.

Leahy was much interested, but said that if he was to succeed at this important job he wanted free rein to do two things. One was to increase hours of labor without necessarily increasing wages. In other words, the Wage-Hour act and the Walsh-Healy act, two of the hardest-fought New Deal labor reforms, were to be suspended.

Admiral Leahy pointed to the experience of the Blum government, which did not rearm for the reason that French labor insisted on continuing the 40-hour week and other management restrictions.

The admiral also referred to the fact that Hitler was paying virtual slave wages, working men all sorts of hours, and he made the point that no nation could compete with Hitler if it maintained too high a wage scale. It would bankrupt the United States, he said, and labor should be patriotic enough to contribute a half-day a week or some additional extra hours toward national defense.

The president flatly opposed this. He said that his labor reforms had been attained only after a long struggle and they could not be surrendered. He also said that labor was always asked to sacrifice in emergencies, and that this time employers could do some of the sacrificing.

Military Deadwood.

The second point Admiral Leahy made was that if he became national defense coordinator he wanted the right to oust or transfer about half the admirals in the Navy. He seemed to feel that the Navy was loaded down with deadwood, and needed a thorough house-cleaning. He even named a few admirals whom he would include in that house-cleaning. Furthermore, Leahy voiced similar sentiments about some of the gone-to-seed officers in the War department.

The president, however, did not concur in this. He was definitely cool to the idea. He had several other conversations with Admiral Leahy but made no further mention of making him National Defense Coordinator.

Finally he proposed: "Bill, you go out to the governor's conference and talk to them on national defense. And then I think you'd better go back to Puerto Rico. There's an important job to be done down there, and this situation seems to be getting along all right. If we need you, we'll send for you."

Since then Admiral Leahy has had various other conferences with Roosevelt on national defense, and continues to be one of his closest advisers. Though he has gone back to Puerto Rico, he will return to Washington again soon. But in regard to labor, his views do not prevail at the White House.

McNary's Campaign.

Senator Charles McNary of Oregon knows just what kind of a campaign he is going to make as GOP candidate for vice president, and no one is going to make him operate differently.

No back-slapper, baby-kisser or glad-hander, he has quietly but firmly decided that these practices are out. "I'll choose my own weapons," says McNary with a boyish smile.

The senator does not intend to make an extensive speaking campaign. He is going to leave that to the head of the ticket.

"It is unnecessary for me to explain where I stand on issues," McNary says. "I've got a 23-year public record."

McNary, one of the greatest political strategists of the country, plans to make only three or four platform speeches and several radio broadcasts during the entire campaign. In addition to his home town acceptance address in Salem, Ore., he also will speak in Omaha, Minneapolis, Detroit, one or two border-state cities and that is all.

The remainder of the time McNary will spend in Washington attending to his duties as minority leader of the senate.

NOTE—When McNary asked his 5-year-old daughter, Charlotte, what she thought of his vice presidential nomination, she replied, "I'll love you whatever you are Daddy. And I love my pony, too."

Surplus Diplomats.

Henry Wallace's surplus crop problem had nothing on the current quandary of his colleague, Cordell Hull. For suddenly the secretary of state has been presented with a problem of surplus diplomats, which in its way is cluttering up the state department just as much as cotton, tobacco and corn are depressing the commodity markets.

Cause of Mr. Hull's surplus problem is Herr Hitler and the disappearances of European countries. Norway, Belgium, Denmark and Holland have ceased to exist, and Hitler has ordered all U. S. ministers and ambassadors in those areas to return home. This affects the following people:

Mrs. J. Borden ("Daisy") Harriman, minister to Norway and veteran Democratic politicress, who became famous when Hitler invaded Scandinavia.

John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, scion of the meat packing family, and a political appointee who has turned into an excellent diplomat.

George Gordon, minister to the Netherlands, a career diplomat of long service.

Ray Atherton, minister to Denmark, who already has been brought to Washington and taken care of as Chief of the European Division.

In addition, Mr. Hull's surplus includes Hugh Wilson, former ambassador to Germany, who has been hanging around the state department ever since he was recalled, not quite knowing what to do with himself; and Ambassador Joe Davies, who has been given nothing to do since he returned from Russia and Belgium.

All of the newly "liquidated" diplomats must get out of German territory by July 15, according to the latest Nazi ultimatum, and Hull's advisers already are cogitating the question of how to keep them busy.

Capital Chaff.

Beautiful Mrs. Harry Woodring, who has spent all her life in Massachusetts and Washington, is being kidded about going out to live on the prairies of Kansas. But Helen says she loves Kansas, intends to have a swell time and do a lot of painting there. . . . Washington irony: When the cabinet group met to plan for disposal of surpluses of the western hemisphere, the plan's author, Dudley Wood, prepared to leave government service because congresss failed to appropriate funds to continue Secretary Hopkins' "brain trust" . . . There was a sensation in the state department when Secretary Hull was seen running across the street to the White House—bareheaded and in the rain. Explanation: The president earlier had asked him to come over, but Hull forgot about it, then suddenly remembered, and ran. . . . Chinese Ambassador Hu Shih says blitzkrieg methods won't work in China, "because our spaces are too broad and our peoples too many."

W. 4TH GRADING TO GET UNDER WAY TOMORROW

WPA Workmen Speed Work of Removing Brick to Make Way For New Pavement.

Work of grading Fourth street preparatory to paving it will get under way tomorrow, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said today.

Bricks have been taken up between Diamond and Main and workmen expected to have all of them between Main and Walnut removed today. Intersections will not be disturbed until the blocks between have been completed.

Crafton said that 75 more men will be added to the 100 already working on the project as soon as the work of laying a new water line on Bowman street is completed. WPA workmen on Bowman will be transferred to West Fourth in order to expedite the work.

Work of taking up the old street car rails is expected to get started today. The rails were sold to the C. D. Appleman company, on the stipulation that the city take them up.

Air compresssor drills also opened up their noisy barrage today as workmen began tearing out the old curbs, and six inches of the old sidewalks on both sides of the street. The new concrete curbs and gutters will cover six inches of the present sidewalks.

Crafton said that a crew of workmen would continue to work on lifting the old bricks but the three down town blocks of paving will be completed before the work beyond Mulberry is started.

All good bricks will be salvaged under the city's contract with the state and WPA, with the state receiving half and the city half. Both the state and city will build garages with their share.

Now at fifteen he is inelegible to enter again and so he announced that he will finance and otherwise aid some worthy boy in next year's Los Angeles competition.

VENDORS MUST FILE REPORTS

Mansfield, Richland Merchants Told July 31 Deadline For Sales Tax Returns.

Mansfield and Richland county merchants must submit their semi-annual sales tax reports by July 31, H. H. Hering, district tax examiner, announced today.

Vendors in the Mansfield area may obtain information about the filing of returns from any of three examiners at the new Mansfield tax headquarters in the basement of the courthouse, Hering said.

Examiners in Mansfield are Harley Miracle, John L. Hess and W. C. Leonard.

Hering said a schedule will be set up within the next few days for vendors in other parts of the county to get help from examiners in Shelby and county villages during the last two weeks of July.

Starting about July 15, the examiners will visit Shelby, Lucas, Lexington, Bellville, Butler, Plymouth and Shiloh at intervals during a two-week period to aid merchants in filing their reports.

Required twice a year by the state, the reports show the amount of sales the merchant has made for the preceding six-months period and the tax he has collected on the transactions.

COACH RESIGNS

'Groundhog' Martin Back In Jail on A 57-Day Stretch

Albert Martin, more familiarly known to his colored associates and to city police as "Groundhog" Martin, was back in county jail today with the prospect of spending the hottest months of the year behind bars.

Martin was returned to the county prison yesterday afternoon on orders from Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, after the former had broken his promise to "be good."

He was sentenced to 60 days in county jail last Friday for assault and battery, with Zelda L. Hill as his accuser. Monday morning Martin sent word to Judge Kalbfleisch that he had a WPA job on West Fourth street paving project and that if he didn't report he would lose the work. He promised to follow the straight and narrow path.

The judge released him on condition of good behavior, but Monday night Martin was back in custody, charged with intoxication. Yesterday the judge sent him back to county jail for the remaining 57 days and added $5 and costs for intoxication.

Perform at Circus Today

Sets Up 'Tented City' After Early Arrival; Tonight's Performance Opens at 8.

Fresh from a tour of the New England states and now on their trek to the west, Cole Brothers circus is in Mansfield today, arriving early this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad from New Castle, Pa., where it exhibited yesterday to capacity crowds.

Equipment was rushed to the Fairground and acres of tents were up and everything in readiness for the afternoon performance long before noon.

The circus, this year features Ken Maynard, filmland's Western star, who has brought his entire cast used in the making of his western thrillers from the Hollywood studio. Maynard is one of the outstanding cowboy movie stars of the country, his marksmanship and roping having won him championships at Cheyenne and Pendleton rodeos.

Opening with a radical departure from the time-worn opening tournaments, "La Habana," the circus program lists this year one of the greatest assemblages of white top stars ever presented by any circus, three rings, stages, air and hippodrome track being constantly filled by troupe after troupe, group after group, and single features, many of these making their first appearance in this country.

Three herds of performing elephants, scores of trained thoroughbred horses and other domestic animals have their spot on the program of features, not forgetting a small army of clowns, headed by the one and only Otto Griebling.

Tonight's show starts promptly at 8, doors open at 7, this allowing ample time to visit the menagerie and side shows.

MASSACHUSETTS SNOWSHOE ARMY

BOSTON—(U.P)—The Finns have their ski troops, but Massachusetts made provision for a genuine snowshoe army 32 years before the Revolutionary War, according to the WPA Historial Records survey.

In the Provincial laws for 1743, the general court delegated the "captain general" to raise 10 companies in the counties of Hampshire, Middlesex, Worcester and York, each man to provide himself "with a good pair of snowshoes, one pair of Moggisons and one Hatchett."

War Scare No Excuse for Hasty Marriage

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The war in Europe is speeding up engagements. Couples who have dilly-dallied through a four or five-year understanding are now naming the wedding day. Wars have a way of giving that now-or-never feeling.

But why should we, in these United States, imagine that the black shadow of any of the "isms" has caught up with us, and rush off and get married.

There have always been two schools of thought about the long and short engagement. The prudent have a way of saying that if a couple have been engaged for two or three years, they're apt to know each other's peculiarities, eccentricities, hobbies, aversions and all those things which make for disagreement.

But it is almost a universal experience that no matter how well people are acquainted, a pair of strangers confront each other after marriage. Getting married does something to the situation, and a married couple must become acquainted all over again.

Many apparently insuperable difficulties keep a couple peeping longingly at the altar through a side door, instead of marching up the main aisle, that one can hardly blame them if they take advantage of the argument that dictators are ready to invade our lately threatened frontiers, and get married at last.

These long-drawn-out engagements usually hinge on responsibilities at home.

So, if you decide to let obligations go hang and elect to marry quickly, better do it because you think the time has come to take your vows, and don't make the excuse that you may be called off to fight in a few weeks' time.

While you may fall in love at first sight, do not hand out the war being fought as an excuse for your hasty marriage, because it may start other youngsters marrying on the spur of the moment. Nothing is truer than the old proverb of marrying in haste and repenting at leisure.

And happiness of marriage is the result of congeniality and general friendship on the part of husband and wife. Even though your heart may be wrung at what is happening on the other side of the Atlantic, don't think you'll better the situation by hasty marriage.

Church Society Entertains With Early Breakfast

One of the most unusual meetings of the Women's Missionary society of the First Christian church was held Tuesday morning when 45 women met at South park for a breakfast party at 8:30 a. m. The group was seated at one long table which was attractively laid with small cloths in blue and yellow, and centered at intervals with bowls of mixed garden flowers in the pastel colors.

Mrs. J. D. Wilcox, the new president, was chairman of the general arrangements. The program was planned by Mrs. Ralph Bemiller and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger led the devotions.

Following the opening prayer the reading material for the coming six months' lesson study was introduced in a clever manner by presenting a playlet.

The next meeting of the society will be held Aug. 6 with a picnic, the place to be announced later.

Auxiliary Has Change of Date

The 13 members of the Women's auxiliary Local 903 to the National Federation of Post Office Clerks agreed last night to change the meeting date to the third Wednesday of the month during the session which was held with Mrs. H. Mrs. L. W. Mumford was welcomed into membership, and Miss Billie Bride was a guest. Plans were made to attend a dinner dance to be given in September by the men's organization. The time and place of the affair will be announced later.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at small tables. The next meeting will be held Aug. 21 with Mrs. John C. Schneider, Sunset boulevard, South Boulevards.

Sophisticated for Dining

New York's summer brings out sophisticated dinner dresses such as these, worn by socialites Hope Bacon and Barbara Cushing at the Waldorf's Starlight Roof. Blond Miss Bacon tops her vivid red and white striped jersey skirt with a red blouse. Brunette Miss Cushing wears twin diamond-and-ruby clips on her gray dinner gown.

Consider Colors In Make-Up

By MME. QUI VIVE

Laying On the Synthetic Complexion.

Now and then one sees a pretty schoolgirl with rosy cheeks, but she's a rare birdie. Natural high coloring has done a fadeaway. Women should have no need of rouge. They get more exercise and outdoor life than women got when their places were in the home and they stayed there. We know about the balanced diet, get enough mineral salts and vitamins. The daily bath has become an institution, and that is of high cosmetic value. The explanation then must be later hours and the strain of the delirious life we lead.

Fortunately, we can buy counterfeit blushes at the drug store. It seems that it is up to all of us who resort to synthetic measures to paint our portraits with restraint and understanding.

Fewer girls are slapping on the war paint with generous hands, yet there are some who go in for the poster effect. The purpose of makeup is to freshen the complexion, make the face vivid and interesting, and, most especially, to play up the eyes.

Neither eyes nor hair should be considered in the selection of powder, rouge and lipstick. Only the skin itself, though of course there must be variations of the ruby tints if makeup is to get along harmoniously with hats and frocks.

Girls and women are not as fussy as they should be about powder. They select too much at random. The list of colors is long, including rachel, naturelle, blends of rose and yellows, mauve, ochre, ivory, green, even orange. At makeup bars in large department stores, experts compound a powder to suit the individual. It may be a little of this, a little of that. The skin color calls for a shade slightly darker to produce a velvety appearance. A powder that is even a tiny bit too light looks foreign, as if it were not on home ground.

Powder should be applied lightly, with little dabs of the lamb's wool pad. If it is patted with the fingers it will hang on longer. Start at the collar bones, calcimine the impertinent nose last.

Complexions of golden cast calls for tawny-colored rouge, preferably an orange. The peaches-and-cream type requires a faint delicate rose blush. A dark brunette skin is flattered when the cheeks are damask.

Only the redhead must consider the color of the hair. No clash between topmop, lips and cheeks.

FAMILY AFFAIR.

Members of the Love and Friendship class of the Mayflower Congregational church had a family picnic at South park last night. The evening was spent socially. Plans were made for a steak fry Aug. 13 with Mrs. H. O. Dysart, 498 Parkview street.

Members are asked to bring table service.
